Now U.S. Builds Florida Forces

By AP, UPI

A major U.S. buildup of troops and planes on the Florida coastline was reported Friday as the most ominous of several developments which could bring a new explosion in the simmering Cuban crisis.

It was May Day and the two main Communists involved in the Cuban problem waved the Red flag with threatening statements.

● Nikita Khrushchev warned in Moscow that continued U.S. threats to Cuba and violations of its air space by reconnaissance flights "can have disastrous consequences."

● Fidel Castro warned in Havana he will use Soviet rockets to shoot down U.S. planes over Cuba if negotiations fail to end such flights.

NO UNDERSTANDING

Khrushchev denied any understanding with the U.S. about the U-2 flights and said U.S. actions could "draw the world into the abyss of another world war and inflict serious harm" to its people.

He made clear Russia supports all five Cuban conditions

U.S. 'CARRIER' SUNK

SAIGON (AP) — Communist terrorists sank a U.S. aircraft transport in Saigon harbor today.

All 73 men of the civilian crew were reported safe.

First Sinking

It was the first time a major U.S. vessel had been sunk in the battle against Viet Cong guerrillas.

The Card had taken on a cargo of old helicopters for return to the United States and had been scheduled to sail later today.

The explosion occurred at 5 a.m. Saigon time and the ship began sinking almost immediately.

Settles in River

The ship settled onto the muddy bottom of the 48-foot-deep Saigon River with its flight deck and superstructure above water.

Civilian Capt. Borge Langeland, 55, of New Orleans, said there was a possibility the ship would capsize.

Banks Guilty, Held in Cell

MONTREAL (CP) — Hal C. Banks, former president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.), was convicted Friday on a charge of conspiring to assault a rival union official seven years ago.

The brawny, 56-year-old accused showed no emotion on hearing the verdict at the end of a 56-page judgment which took Judge Claude Wagner two hours and 20 minutes to read to a packed court. However, tears came to his eyes as he was being taken to cells.

RAIL CANCELLED

Banks' $2,000 bail was cancelled and he was ordered held in Bordeaux Jail until sentencing Tuesday, when defence counsel Joseph Cohen said an appeal will be filed and application for bail will be made.

Banks was charged with conspiracy to assault Capt. Henry Walsh with intent to wound, maim or disfigure. The organizer for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild (CLC) was beaten up Aug. 18, 1957, in a darkened hotel parking lot in Owen Sound, Ont.

CO-CONSPIRATORS

Paul Carsh and Jack Richardson of Montreal and Jack Casper of Sacramento, Calif., were named as co-conspirators in the charge, which carries a 14-year maximum sentence.

In his judgment, Judge Wagner said:

Rare Crabs End Trip Too Soon

PARIS (Reuters) — Six giant crabs of a rare species being flown from Alaska to aquariums in London, Manchester and Hamburg were eaten by error.

Paris airport authorities said Friday by "regrettable negligence" the chef preparing meals for the airport restaurant was not informed that the crabs had been deposited in the cold room only to await transit connections.

Sukarno Ready To Act

JAKARTA (UPI) — Indonesian President Sukarno said Friday he will deliver a "command of action" Sunday to 1,000,000 volunteers who have vowed to help him crush Malaysia.

In Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, Prime Minister Tunko Abdul Rahman cut short his vacation and announced that a new cabinet would be sworn in today, three days ahead of schedule. Rahman's alliance party, pledged to a program of opposition to Indonesia, won a landslide election victory last Sunday.

The president gave no details of the order, but observers said it probably would call for stepped up action by Indonesian guerrillas in the jungles of Borneo where Indonesia and Malaysia share a common border.

Borrowed Name

'Doctor' Really Wasn't

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons disclosed Friday that a man who practised medicine for two years at Mount Memorial Hospital in Burlington, near Hamilton, was an impostor.

The identity of the man is unknown, but he practised with credentials in the name of Dr. Andre Couture. His papers showed him to be a graduate of Laval University medical school and he had a "limited licence" to practise from the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

His documents are believed to be forgeries.

The man left the hospital in January to enter private practice in the nearby village of Kilbride, but left later with his wife and two young children.

The man came under suspicion when someone—not on the staff of the hospital—questioned his competence.

Botanical Beach to Become B.C. Park

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

The brief but bitter battle of Botanical Beach is over and the world famous marine life paradise will become a provincial park with public access, Recreation Minister Kiernan announced yesterday. The beach battle erupted into front page headlines Wednesday when Colonist Outdoors Editor Alec Merriman disclosed that the area was being closed to the public by the private owner of surrounding land.

Thursday evening the private owner, logger Rudolph Witschi, of Cefir Forest Products Ltd., sought out Mr.

Kiernan and offered the province a gift of 20 acres fronting the beach and the use of a private road for public access.

Earlier Mr. Kiernan had asked for a two-week cooling-off period in the beach hassle as a prelude to a meeting with Mr. Witschi to discuss proposals for park development and access.

Nature lovers and sportsmen were up in arms at the threatened loss of access to the beach and marine scientists were upset over the effects of creating a booming ground adjacent to it.

Mr. Kiernan said yesterday the Cefir booming ground is designed with a breakwater separating it from Botanical Beach. This would overcome the danger that rotting bark from the logs would poison marine life at the beach.

Initially, said the minister, there will be controlled access along Mr. Witschi's 340,000 logging road and group

Battle Outcome Example to Others

Colonist Outdoors Editor Alec Merriman, who brought the Botanical Beach situation to the public's attention, said yesterday he was pleased with the outcome of events.

Informed of the peaceful settlement, Mr. Merriman—attending a B.C. Federation of Fish and Game conference at Nanaimo—said:

"I am delighted that Mr. Witschi has made a magnanimous offer which could well set an example to other private logging operators.

"He was quite within his rights as private owner of the property and it is certainly gratifying to see that a new Canadian has recognized the moral feature of the issue," said Mr. Merriman.

He said he hopes people will continue to enjoy Botanical Beach and that they will be "doubly sure to respect any logging equipment or property of the owners."

visits to the beach should be possible in the near future. After the area is logged, said the minister, it will be fully open to the public.

Mr. Kiernan said the road, which will start at Port Renfrew about three miles away, will be built to a higher standard than the provincial parks branch could have afforded.

The park will be named Witschi Botanical Garden Park after the donor, he continued.

Mr. Kiernan said Mr. Witschi told him there had been several reasons why he had tried to keep the public off his land.

The old plank road along which walking access could be gained was in a dangerous condition, and blasting had been going on nearby along the grade of the new road. Some equipment had been stolen.

Selective logging will take place on the 20 acres to be donated to the government.

Mr. Kiernan said he will visit the property May 21 to discuss park development plans with Mr. Witschi.

MARSALA (AP)—Police said 18 children and a priest were drowned when a motor excursion boat carrying a party of school children on a May Day holiday overturned Friday off this southwestern Sicilian coastal city.

Banks Guilty

"The court has come to the conclusion that the beating of Capt. Walsh was a manifest act of gangsterism agreed to, planned, ordered, directed and supervised by Harold Chamberlain Banks.

"The court has no hesitation whatsoever in finding the accused guilty as charged."

He said Banks' profession of faith in a policy of non-violence at the trial is "incompatible with the evidence this court has heard."

"Not only has it been established beyond a reasonable doubt that he beating took place, but it has also been established, and also beyond a reasonable doubt, that this beating was ordered by the accused."

CAN'T BELIEVE HIM

"The accused has taken such liberties with the truth in his testimony that it is now impossible for this court to believe him."

The judge described Banks' attitude in his testimony to Capt. Walsh's beating as "flippant."

The doctor who saw Capt. Walsh after the beating noticed he had been the victim of a concussion of the brain, of multiple contusions and abrasions and that he was covered with bruises from head to foot.

DESCRIPTION SHOCKING

"The description of the injuries was so shocking that the court on this point cannot accept the flippant attitude shown by the accused when he was questioned," Judge Wagner said.

He referred to testimony in which Banks said: "I don't run on every rumor if somebody got a slap on the side of the head."

Judge Wagner commented: "Well, at least as far as this court is concerned, we know how badly Capt. Walsh was hurt and we know that until this day, his legs are weak and he is lame."

He paid particular attention to evidence by Capt. J. Deslauriers, brought in by the prosecution as a rebuttal witness after defence witnesses had testified.

"PUNK" STATEMENT

Capt. Deslauriers, then business agent in Montreal for the Deck Officers' Guild, testified he had been in Banks' office in 1957 and heard him complain of Capt. Walsh's activities, saying "It is about time to take action or about time to do something."

"The court is unable to accept the interpretation given by defence counsel John Ahern to this incident when it is submitted that the accused was behaving like any businessman would."

"It would be disturbing indeed if businessmen were in the habit of behaving this way," Judge Wagner said.

Crown witnesses testified Banks ordered Carah, Richardson and Casper to assault Capt. Walsh.

Bruce Smith, a marine engineer from Thorold, Ont., said he located Capt. Walsh for Carah and Richardson.

"It is true that under examination, this man appeared frightened but seemed decided to let the truth prevail," the judge said. "The hesitations which were his are perfectly understandable in view of his membership in the SIU."

"They are more understandable that at the prompting of Leonard McLaughlin, executive vice-president of the SIU, it was suggested to him that he proceed to the defence attorney's office before testifying instead of going directly to the prosecution who had subpoenaed him."

INAPPROPRIATE ACT

He criticized Mr. McLaughlin's act as "inappropriate."

"The court wishes to state that it entertains very little regard for the conduct of Mr. McLaughlin, who more than any other member of the union was familiar with the sentiments of the men at the top."

"This Mr. McLaughlin in his testimony gave us the definite impression that he was bent on favoring the accused by attempting to minimize the motives which had prompted the beating of Capt. Walsh."

Mr. McLaughlin is scheduled to replace Banks, removed by the board of maritime trustees in March, as SIU president.

Edgy Ontario Sets Up Civil Liberties Query

TORONTO (UPI) — The Ontario government, still smarting from the public outcry against its "police state" legislation, Friday announced the appointment of a one-man royal commission to investigate the entire scope of civil liberties in the province.

U.K., Soviets Condemn Laos Coup

LONDON (AP) — Britain and the Soviet Union jointly condemned Friday night the recent right-wing Laotian army coup to oust Prince Souvanna Phouma's coalition government in Laos.

In a declaration by Foreign Ministers Richard Butler and Andrei Gromyko the two governments ask strict adherence to the 1962 Laotian peace settlement.

This would keep Souvanna and his three-party government in power.

Mayor Asks Probe Of 'Christian Action'

MONCTON, N.B. (UPI) — Mayor Leonard Jones Jr., called on the federal government yesterday to make a "full and complete" investigation of the Christian Action Movement and a related publication, the Canadian Intelligence Service.

Mayor Jones made the request in a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson and Justice Minister Faurneau.

VERBAL JOUSTING The mayor announced the move following a week of verbal jousting with two movement representatives, Pat Walsh of Ottawa and Australian Eric Butler.

TWO CANCELLED

The two arrived here Monday to hold a series of public "seminars." One such meeting was held Monday, but two others were cancelled when the University of New Brunswick and a local hotel refused to provide facilities for them.

Mayor Jones said he had obtained "certain information" on the movement and the Canadian Intelligence Service and "was desirous of reporting this to the meeting."

SHOUTED DOWN

The mayor went to Monday night's session, but was "shouted down" by Butler when he attempted to speak. After a brief verbal battle with the Australian, Mayor Jones left the meeting hall, followed by much of the audience.

Tornado Rips Texas Town

TEMPLE, Tex. (UPI) — A tornado ripped through downtown and South Temple Friday, hitting an elementary school and a hospital and knocking out all electrical power.

Few injuries were reported, but damage was "extensive."

Heavenly Interest?

OTTAWA (CP) — Is a new political party on the horizon?

The Ottawa Journal carried the following advertisement in its personal column Friday:

"Men wanted as candidates for next federal election. Must believe in God and understand finance and banking."

Greeks' Good Friday Cyprus Quiet On Holy Day

NICOSIA (CP) — Relative calm settled over the troubled area around Kyrenia Pass in Northern Cyprus Friday, after Canadian troops had set up 12 permanent posts in key trouble spots on either side of the pass.

Only occasional shooting was heard throughout the day in an area that has seen considerable fighting between Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots.

Once a group of Greek-Cypriots opened fire on a flock of sheep ambling up a hill near the Turkish village of Khirini. Several of the animals were killed.

In the Greek districts of Nicosia, the capital city, stores were closed because it is Good Friday on the Greek Orthodox calendar.

Responsibility for the exhaustive inquiry was turned over to a veteran jurist and civil rights expert, Chief Justice James Chalmers McRuer, who was admitted to the Ontario bar and named a judge 20 years ago.

OMBUDSMAN Premier John Roberts said terms of reference of the commission would be outlined to the legislature before adjournment some time late this month.

Roberts suggested the commission inquiry might result in the creation of the position of public defender, or ombudsman, and development of a civil rights code which would be a further extension of Ontario's human rights code and the Canadian Bill of Rights, passed by the federal Parliament in 1960.

"We may require a Magna Carta of our own, based upon the principles of the original Great Charter," the premier said.

Radiation Boosts Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal government researchers Friday reported a tenfold increase in lung cancer among U.S. uranium miners.

They said the evidence appears to implicate airborne radiation within the mines.

The report was based on a study initiated in 1950 by the U.S. health service and covering results through 1962.

Portugal Defies UN

LISBON (Reuters) — Portugal is determined to retain control of Angola and other Portuguese overseas territories despite United Nations demands that they be granted independence. Premier Antonio Salazar says.

Salazar, 75 last Tuesday, held the reins of power in Portugal for almost 32 years.

Salazar said he would like to retire and hand over his job to a younger man but the need to guide Portuguese policy in face of problems in Africa prevents him from doing so.

TEACHER TRAINING FOR UNIVERSITY GRADUATES

The Department of Education is making a province-wide survey to discover university graduates who are seriously interested in becoming certificated teachers but are prevented by circumstance from undertaking the university programme which leads to teacher certification.

I would earnestly request the co-operation of anyone in this group, in completing the form below and sending it without delay to the Co-ordinator of Teacher Recruitment, Department of Education, Victoria, B.C. Local education authorities may later contact you to obtain and provide further information.

LESLIE R. PETERSON, Minister of Education.

Ten Empires—or One

THE NEW GROUND rules for Canada's proposed pension plan will place the entire capital funds into the hands of the provinces for investment. Ottawa will guarantee the solvency of the plan and will probably be left with the organization work, but little else.

It is hardly surprising that with this immense new source of capital being thrown into their laps the provincial governments should be "softening" in their attitudes toward the national pension plan.

There is much to commend a course which will ensure that the premiums paid in are put to use right across the country, and in the provinces in which they are raised.

But at the same time, the availability of these funds will encourage the ten provinces to indulge in sectional empire building which in the long run might be dangerous to the existing concept of confederation.

So long as all the provinces are ruled by responsible government, the danger of running into "poor" investments of the pension funds may be small, but it would be compounding welfare if the provinces put their share of pension plan funds into welfare schemes of their own. The taxpayer would then find himself paying double interest on his own money.

Because the funds arising from pension payments will be so immense, there is also considerable trepidation on the economic level as to the amount of money which will be left over for the vital matter of investment in national industrial development.

It has been a complaint for a long time that the life insurance companies are not playing their part in providing Canada with its much needed risk capital, and there appears to be very little hope that in the hands of the provinces any more pension fund monies will find their way into corporation investment.

Nor should it be lost to mind that ten provinces each with guaranteed access to capital funds could set up an economic oligarchy which in non-benign hands would lead very easily to the state of society which exists at the other side of the Iron Curtain.

A Job to be Done

OPPOSITION Leader John Diefenbaker has called upon his followers to get out and build up the Tory party's membership and finances in order to be ready for the next election. He has also advised them to find out "where we went wrong between 1957 and 1963."

These several tasks he has set his political henchmen may never be easily nor happily accomplished—but if the Progressive Conservative party is to regain its earlier impetus and image they are tasks which must be tackled.

Though the leadership of the party is no longer in question, its national organization most certainly is—and has been long before the decade of the sixties began. Once the party had established itself in office with the most sweeping political victory in the annals of the country the national organizers simply sat back and rested on their laurels, apparently convinced that nothing else was needed of them. By all accounts they are still so resting and still so convinced there is nothing to be done.

Meanwhile the party, as such, has steadily faded away, its organizers content to depend solely on their leader to breathe life into the Tories when the time comes. But though Mr. Diefenbaker is undeniably this country's most outstanding politician and most effective political leader this may be beyond even his formidable capabilities if he does not have some concrete help from his major lieutenants.

The time is ripe for the rebuilding of the party's fortunes. Disillusionment in the Liberal government's vacillating policies is rife. The break-up of minor parties continues. And, as Mr. Diefenbaker said this week: "...all across Canada today we have a degree of dissension, fear and suspicion that we have never seen before in Canadian history."

If the Progressive Conservative party is to rise to this challenge and present itself as an alternative and better government, it needs, apart from the leader it already has, a strong organization and a firm policy to offer the electorate—neither of which does it appear to possess at the moment.

Coping with Crime

THERE WAS A TIME when the local police could keep a strict tab on suspicious characters arriving in Victoria and householders could leave their doors unlocked with assured unconcern.

That period of relative freedom from crime has passed and lawbreaking has developed to dismaying degree within the community as well as coming from persons outside. But the means of access and departure of criminals from elsewhere has facilitated the inroads of those bent on making Victoria what the police chief terms a "playland" for mainland hoodlums.

His concern moves him to consider local application of the "habitual criminal" code which as a deterrent on the mainland is having adverse effect on this area. This is a course which warrants being followed here and the utmost penalties should await those who deem this city and its environs as easy pickings for wrong-doers.

The police commission has in its budget provided for an increase of six in department strength, approximately six per cent more, a feature which the situation demands.

A community gets only what it pays for and if it requires more police protection it must be prepared to sustain the costs involved. Under Police Chief Gregory the city force is enhancing its stature as an efficient and aggressive instrument faced with mounting problems, as are the other police agencies of the Greater Victoria area.

The ratio of petty and major criminal activity now extant is uncomfortably much larger than is desirable in any assessment of the picture, and the city fathers have acted prudently in endorsing the police commission budget. There will never be enough men to answer all the calls on the department's resources but it must be backed in its efforts to cope substantially with criminal elements within and from without.

Victoria is a favored place to live in but its lustre is being dimmed by the amount of lawbreaking the local courts daily indicate. Only competent police vigilance and sentences of appropriate severity can keep the city free of immoderate ratios of lawbreaking.

Turnabout

On Massive Scale

California's Higher Education

By AURIOL STEVENS from Berkeley, Calif.

THE demand for higher education is nowhere more acute than in California. The most populous state in the Union, California gains 1,600 new residents daily, about 650 of them under 18. The president of the University of California has summed up its problems in "an explosion in the knowledge industry"; they must meet the demand for qualified employees through teaching and the demand for more information through research.

Higher education in California, except for a few small private universities, is provided by the state through a hierarchy of junior colleges, state colleges and—at the top—the University of California. Every Californian has the right to go to one of these. Only the best get into the university.

Even so buffered, the university is big. Over 50,000 students are enrolled on its eight campuses throughout the state. The largest, the oldest, and the best known of these is Berkeley. It has 27,000 students and expects twice that number by 1970. At noon the central plaza of the campus seethes with well-scrubbed, neatly-coiffed oodles and crew-cut kids in the inevitable levis and sneakers.

Education on a massive scale is exciting. And the standard is good. The location is beautiful, the climate comfy and the salaries as high as any in the U.S. As a result the faculty is formidable. The university attracts Nobel Prize physicists and government defence grants like a magnet. The domed cyclotron where much of the Atomic Energy Commission's basic research is done, broods over the Berkeley campus from the hills. But science, though important, does not dominate other departments.

Size brings problems. Administratively these are solved by IBM machines. Each student's history is reduced to a series of holes in a colored card: efficient and impersonal. Occasionally even this breaks down. Last year it rained on registration day. The wet cards buckled and the computers choked.

The 17,000 undergraduates at Cal suffered most from the university's size. Even though the state's elite, the standards in the schools are such that as freshmen they require much elementary teaching. Courses in English grammar, basic French and American history and institutions are compulsory. Such instruction is given in classes numbering up to 500. A visiting British professor commented that what was needed was not teaching but mob oratory.

Individual supervision, marking papers, and taking small discussion groups are delegated by professors to their graduate teaching assistants. With the exception of the brightest and the toughest undergraduates, the results are alarmingly uniform. Here is the next generation of mildly disaffected suburban wives and ulcerous commuters. To quote the recent hit song of Malvina Reynolds, a Berkeley resident:

"...and the people in the houses all go to the University, and they all get put in boxes, little boxes all the same. And there's doctors and there's lawyers and business executives, and they're all made out of ticky-tacky and they all look the same."

Only about 20 per cent of undergraduates now live in the fraternities and sororities which dominated Berkeley before its cataclysmic expansion in the forties. The majority of undergraduates live in bedsteads in reinforced concrete skyscrapers grouped around a main dining hall and lounge. These "dorms" were boycotted by the girls at the beginning of last semester. They complained that, "I'm bugged by this unidentified meat," or, "It's so undignified to have to sign out when you have a date." The university was left with space on its hands despite the high rents in the city. Many students marry young. Babies are littered all over campus on a sunny day. Often the wife works to pay her husband's way. Divorce excites no comment.

Where undergraduates suffer, the graduates benefit. Berkeley's academic reputation attracts over 10,000 graduate students, nearly 2,000 of them from overseas. Berkeley has another advantage: unlike the Ivy League colleges of the East Coast, it does not look towards Europe for its standards and traditions. Contact between faculty and graduates is easy and informal. Indeed, the contact with, and quality of, graduates is cited by British academics as one of Cal's attractions.

The university puts pressure on its members to publish their work. Without graduates as research and teaching assistants they'd never have the time. These assistant positions provide graduates with an income during the 10-year grind to their PhDs.

Graduates are not abandoned to a grey limbo. Because of the size and quality of the faculty, excellent small classes and seminars are available in a wide range of subjects. The library is outstanding and the stacks are open to graduates. American graduate schools are the one part of the country's educational system unrivalled anywhere, and Cal is the largest and one of the best.

There are other reasons for the university's reputation. This huge institution is among the first in the West to grapple with the problems involved in giving higher education to all citizens. It is the perennial problem of quality versus quantity. Berkeley is tackling it willingly with tens of thousands of students.

The experiment is crucial to the future of higher education in the U.S. It is possibly doomed to fail. Impersonality and uniformity have to be fought at every turn. Much of the instruction of undergraduates is undeniably assembly-line in nature. Students get their BAs by registering the requisite number of courses attended and passed in four years. Original thought is not a premium. Reading assignments for course exams tend to list required reading by pages in set books. Much of the research is in the social sciences. Phrases like "the necessity of a meaningful dialogue to an on-going study of interpersonal relationships" echo around.

But here is a university which, by publicly announced policy, has refused to accept the idea that higher education is for an elite alone. It is remarkably successful.

Centennial Occasion

Remember Brown

By GEORGE BOGAN

IN the middle of June, Canada will pass an important centennial. It was just a century ago that George Brown rose in the Parliament of the old United Province of Canada and shook hands with John A. Macdonald to form the coalition that led to Confederation. Because of that event, this year's more famous centennials, the Charlottetown and Quebec Conferences, were made possible.

There is a curious parallel between the situation in the 1860s in the Province of Canada, and that in the 1960s in the Dominion of Canada. The Province of Canada had been created in 1840 as a union of the former colonies of Upper and Lower Canada. The two parts of the union, then known as Canada East (Quebec) and Canada West (Ontario), were given equal representation in the united legislature, although their populations were unequal.

As the population of Canada West grew in relation to its neighbor, that part of the province became progressively more under-represented. A great agitation, led by Brown, arose for representation by population, or "rep by pop."

The resulting controversy finally brought government under the old constitution to a standstill. In the frequent elections, French-speaking Canada East tended to elect an overwhelming majority of Conservatives pledged to maintain the existing union, while English-speaking Canada West tended to elect Reformers pledged to support "rep by pop." The even balance of the two forces created an unstable situation leading to complete political impasse.

Finally, in the early summer of 1864, after there had been within the previous three years two general elections and four minority governments, Brown made the great gesture which paved the way to a solution.

Even if we did not have a great new constitutional crisis boiling all around us, it would still be important that the planning for the Centennial of Confederation should take place in the same non-partisan spirit that led to Confederation itself. I have advocated frequently, as have many others, that a far greater recognition should be given to importance of Sir John A. Macdonald in the founding of our country. Certainly Macdonald was the driving force in the whole process, whose strategy and generalship brought together the diverse elements which made up a nation. But without the active support and co-operation of Brown and Cartier, who were the effective majority leaders in English and French Canada, respectively, the thing could never have been done.

If we are to develop in this country a real national feeling and a pride in our country, we must begin by developing a greater awareness of the achievements of those who made our country what it is.

Names like Macdonald and Brown and Cartier should be as familiar to Canadians as Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln are to Americans. The first opportunity to do this will come this year with the centennial of George Brown's great gesture of bi-partisan statesmanship.

Next year will mark the 150th anniversary of the birth of Sir John A. Macdonald. Many suggestions have been made for honoring this event. In my opinion, the most impressive idea is that John A. Macdonald's old Ottawa home, Earncliffe, should be bought back from the British High Commission and turned into a national memorial.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

Caryl Chessman, 38, was executed four years ago today, in 1960—after spending 14 years in death row at San Quentin Prison near San Francisco. He was convicted in 1948 on 17 counts of robbery, kidnapping, sexual abuse, and attempted rape. In his fight to stay alive, he taught himself law in prison, wrote four books, won eight stays of execution and won support from individuals and groups around the world.

1963—A British Comet jetliner crashed near Calcutta, killing 42.

1961—Canada signed an agreement to sell Communist China 3,622,000,000 of wheat within three years.

Large sums of money are coming from somewhere—the John Birch Society is apparently one source—to help him reach as many people as possible. The Wallace managers are reported to have committed $50,000 for television time in the last 10 days, including three state-wide hook-ups.

"What he is saying, in effect," Governor Welsh remarked after one of these telecasts, "is that we in Alabama would secede if we could afford it. But with all that federal aid they get down there they can't afford to."

After a terrible civil war

For the Same Reasons

All Men Are Lonely

By SHAWN HERRON

IF you drive north from Gloucester, Mass., on Route 127, you can take an alternate route around a long tongue of land that sticks out into the Atlantic. Go on past the little foundry which is open to the weather and has a notice saying "painting pictures of drawing or photographing this plant is forbidden."

Around the cape there are coves and fjords and along the shore of one of these, live Richard Hanson and his wife, in quiet and meagre retirement. Their children are grown, away and married. All three of them, by some alchemy of both spirit and currency, got university educations.

It was their parents' spirit and currency. You understand, of course, that people with money send their children to "college." The un-mommed go to universities. You go to "college" at Princeton even though it is properly called a university. "College" in many parts of the United States is more than a symbol for an institution of higher—sometimes higher—learning. It is a symbol for a condition also: a financial condition. Universities are shadowy, state institutions, suspected of unproven inferiority.

Richard Hanson's children all went to university. Richard never earned more than $4,800 a year throughout his career. With pension and social security he now has $2,000 a year and waits out this mortal coil in a winterized summer cottage by the sea.

He is a retired preacher. Pray for retired preachers.

When we go to visit Richard and Mary Hanson we take a hamper and justify this reflection on their hospitality by the about the effects of the dysentery that damaged something or other in me, during the war. "There are so many things he hasn't eat," Calamity Jane explains to Mary with earnest and partial untruthfulness, and Richard smiles in double-edged understanding.

Spring is rushing winter out of town. So I sat the other day on Richard's little porch and breathed deeply of the air that is heavy with ozone and sea weed, and the sounds of the long, Atlantic swell.

"It's very beautiful," I said. "It's very lonely," he said. "But then, you know that. You're a preacher."

"What's eating you, Richard?"

"Loneliness," he said. "But there's nothing new about that. It's been eating me for most of the 50 years I've been ordained."

"Loneliness. And a thousand questions about waste. My son is a physicist. He teaches at a good university. He sees his product get out into industry: commerce, education, research, pure or technical and he knows what he's doing. He's also being paid for what he's doing. It never occurs to him that he's wasting life, time or talent."

"But it occurs to me. It has often occurred to me. I never had a congregation that really wanted to pay me what I got, and I never had a congregation in which the question of what I got wasn't made an issue by some mean-spirited fellow."

"When I sit here and draw up a balance sheet, I sweat sometimes when I think of how much of my life has been spent not in advancing the gospel beyond the church but in trying to persuade Christians not to do needless violence to the gospel within the church."

"I suppose more than 10 years out of my 50 went in combatting the destructive effects of mean personal intrigue in congregations, faction tensions, personal jealousies, defensive touchiness, unnecessary egotistic critics of other people's efforts; in general the corrosive destructiveness of pettiness."

"I've never been able to get this time and effort into a settled perspective. Was it wasted or is it perfectionism to suppose that a sustained effort to be Christian is something we can reasonably expect from the Christian community? I have only one life and it's nearly over."

"But perhaps worse than this has been the loneliness. I sit here now and read, and watch the sea, and wait. You have no idea what it means to me when I see you coming down the road. I can say what I like to you. My doubts don't alarm you, my fears and regrets don't offend you."

"Yet I wonder: would I have spoken openly if we had been of an age together in neighboring parishes? Nobody can do me any harm now. I'm very old, retired, waiting patiently for the reaper. I can't lose anything except the purchasing power of my few dollars a year."

"But whether we want to be or not, we are men of judgment. So we fear judgment on ourselves. What harm can our known frailties of spirit do us if we want to move? So we hide them to ourselves and live the lives of hidden men."

"A thousand thousand times in my ministry I have needed a friend I could talk to, not about my professional role but about my real life. We rarely have such friends in the ministry. We can never trust other ministers with our real lives—we are not supposed to have them, as other men have."

"In a very important and a very sad sense we are false fronts. This is the root of our kind of loneliness. So we face away from ourselves and in time we do not see ourselves; we see only our false fronts, and a lot of us die and being dead we are no good in our jobs. What we can't confront and accept in ourselves we can't understand in other people."

"I have never been able to accept my own efforts at self-deception. I could always see myself. So I always needed a friend who didn't judge me. And I never had one, once I was ordained."

"We move from parish to parish and live our lives among dependent acquaintances, concealing ourselves from the parishioners who think they have become our friends. It is the loneliest life in the world."

"You're a lucky man," he said, "you have real intimates outside the ministry and the active church. You can be an intimate among intimates. I have never been anything but a role player among role players. It is a sad reflection at the end of the road. God help bachelor ministers."

But though it is sad, there is something even sadder: to live and work for 50 years, "with and for people," and never to discover that all men are lonely, in the same way and for the same reasons.

Washington Calling

Playing on Discontent

By MARQUESS CHILDS from Indianapolis

HAVING learned the lesson of overconfidence in Wisconsin, no one from Gov. Matthew Welsh on down will speculate about the size of segregationist George Wallace's vote in next week's primary.

Not only were the discontents underestimated but the shrewdness of the Alabama governor's appeal has also been underrated. In the Midwest he never talks about Negroes, except to say he gets along well with them, or about segregation or racial trouble.

His target is the federal government and the evil of its ever-encreasing power. Wallace denounces the civil rights bill as another and more insidious extension of "that power."

"They can order you to hire a red-headed Chinese or a Baptist Japanese," he tells Indiana audiences.

Large sums of money are coming from somewhere—the John Birch Society is apparently one source—to help him reach as many people as possible. The Wallace managers are reported to have committed $50,000 for television time in the last 10 days, including three state-wide hook-ups.

"What he is saying, in effect," Governor Welsh remarked after one of these telecasts, "is that we in Alabama would secede if we could afford it. But with all that federal aid they get down there they can't afford to."

After a terrible civil war

ceeded himself under Indiana's constitution, which seems to have been written shortly after the discovery of the wheel, so his hold is limited. Under the voodoo-doll theory of state governorships the citizenry will stick pins in the governor to get even for all the discomforts and dislocations of overgrown urbanism. As for the president, private polls show he would carry the state, which gave Richard Nixon his highest percentage of victory in 1960, by two to one against any Republican if the election were held today.

In 1961 Welsh, working with the Republican legislature, got through a state civil-rights act that in some respects goes beyond the measure now before Congress. Last year it was strengthened with only three dissenting votes. With a strong civil-rights commission it has been widely accepted.

Currently, and this may be the saddest commentary on the whole business, the seeds of rebellion are being planted. Government in Wallace's perverted fairy tale becomes the dragon to be resisted at any cost.

Nullification suits perfectly the ends of the John Birchers and others who seem to want either no government at all or a tyranny in which all would conform to their iron dogmas. In 1861 Lincoln resolved not to free the slaves but to save the Union from nullification and secession. Those, it has been said, who do not learn from history are compelled to live it over again.

Pilgrims Visit Fallen

AMSTERDAM (Reuters)—A group of 87 Canadian war pilgrims arrived here by air from Montreal Friday.

They were next-of-kin of Canadian servicemen killed in Holland during the Second World War. The visit to Holland is under the auspices of the Netherlands War Graves Committee.

VISIT CEMETERIES

The Canadians will visit military cemeteries at Nijmegen, Bergen Op Zoom, Venray, Rotterdam and the British cemetery at Reichswald, just across the border in Germany.

On Holland's Liberation Day May 5, there will be a war remembrance service at the Canadian war cemetery near Nijmegen.

Edmonton

Firemen to Attend Four-Day Seminar

Victoria firefighter Eric Simmons, vice-president of the International Association of Fire Fighters (IAFF), along with four other firemen from here, will attend a special four-day seminar at Edmonton, May 4 to 7.

The firemen—two from Victoria and Oak Bay, two from Saanich—are vice-presidents of Victoria and Oak Bay local fire associations. They will be joined by Edmonton firemen, including president Alfred Adams, president of Saanich local William Holmes, and secretary-treasurer David McGregor.

Along with international president William Buck and vice-president Jack Waller, Mr.

Simmons will address delegates at the seminar, at the University of Edmonton.

It will be the first of its type to be sponsored by the international organization in Canada. Hosts will be the Alberta Provincial Association of Fire Fighters and Edmonton Local 1447.

VARIED DISCUSSIONS

There will be discussions on collective bargaining techniques, economic factors affecting negotiations, public relations and parliamentary procedures.

Lecturers will include Dr. Eric Taylor of Toronto, noted arbitrator and industrial relations consultant; Roswell Atwood of Harvard University; and Eugene Kelley, a Washington, D.C., public relations consultant.

The fire fighters will be accommodated in the university's newly-constructed residences.

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—A little bantam hen is the bewildered foster mother of a rare bird—the world's 40th whooping crane.

The fledgling burst out of his half-pound egg at the Louisiana State wildlife research station here Wednesday and was reported in good condition. The bantam who sat on the egg, "mothering" it until it hatched, is a Japanese Silkite weighing one pound.

The true mother is Josephine, one of seven whooping cranes at the New Orleans Zoo.

New Television Sets Built for 82 Channels

WASHINGTON (AP)—Television in the United States passed another milestone Friday.

Any video set made in the U.S. from now on must be capable of receiving 82 instead of 13 television channels.

Congress passed the all-channel television set requirement in 1962 and made it effective today to give the industry time to adapt itself to the new law. It also applies to imported sets.

Most television sets on the market today are equipped to receive only the 12 very high frequency (VHF) channels from two through 13.

Ready to accommodate the overflow are 70 ultra high frequency (UHF) channels. More than 100 UHF stations are operating today, but many television owners are unfamiliar with them because their sets are equipped only for VHF reception.

The 12 VHF channels can accommodate no more than 650 U.S. television stations. The 70 UHF channels accommodate up to 3,000 new stations.

Girl Pleases Father Margaret Has 'Super' Baby

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret gave birth Friday to her second child, a girl, in the same London palace where Queen Victoria was born.

Margaret's baby weighed six pounds two ounces. It was announced Friday night.

Mother and baby continue to make good progress, the announcement added.

MARVELLOUS NEWS

The baby's father, the Earl of Snowdon, 34, said after seeing his daughter: "She looks a super baby. It is marvellous news."

The child becomes seventh in line to the British throne.

PHONED NEWS

After Sir John Peel, one of the attending doctors, had announced the birth to the waiting father, Lord Snowdon telephoned the news to his sister-in-law, Queen Elizabeth, at nearby Windsor Castle and to Queen Mother Elizabeth at her Clarence House residence in Central London.

The Queen Mother visited her daughter and granddaughter in the middle of the morning and met Snowdon's mother, the Countess of Rosse, who had also called at Kensington Palace.

VISCOUNT NOW TWO

Viscount Linley, the Snowdon's other child, now two, was born at Clarence House, where he was staying at the time of his sister's arrival.

He did not see the new baby Friday.

BROTHER'S CRIB

The "May Day" baby was being cared for by nurse Anne Thompson, the midwife attending Margaret, and lay in her brother's crib, made of basket-work covered with white organza and valencienne lace.

The baby will be known as Lady Armstrong-Jones. Her Christian name will be announced later. Snowdon was Antony Armstrong-Jones before his marriage to Margaret in May, 1960.

FOUR CHANGES

With her arrival the Royal Family has now seen the addition of two sons and two daughters in 1964 and four changes in order of precedence to the throne.

Princess Alexandra, cousin of Queen Elizabeth, bore her first baby, a leap-year-day son, on Feb. 29.

Queen Elizabeth had her third son and fourth child, Prince Edward, on March 10.

Tuesday the Duchess of Kent, wife of the Queen's cousin, the Duke of Kent, had her second child, a girl.

Relations Improved By Talks with U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday Canada-United States relations were considerably improved as a result of this week's meeting of the Canada-U.S. ministerial committee on trade and economic affairs.

He made the statement in the Commons after tabling the formal communiqué and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker immediately called it bland and empty.

WIDE RANGE

Mr. Martin said the conference Wednesday and Thursday covered a wide range of important problems, on which good progress had been made. He said Canada is hopeful the U.S. will ease restrictions on the import of Canadian lead, zinc and cheese.

OMISSIONS NOTABLE

Mr. Diefenbaker said the communiqué was "notable for its omissions." Neither it nor the minister had dealt with shipping problems on the Great Lakes and similar problems.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he detected "a flicker of a smile" on Mr. Martin's face when the minister had talked about improving Canadian-American economic relations.

Mr. Martin jumped to his feet

Substantial Bail Set for Youths

Substantial bail was set yesterday for four youths charged with abducting and robbing a 19-year-old youth.

At the end of a preliminary hearing in Saanich magistrate's court, Magistrate William Oetler yesterday committed for trial by a judge Lloyd De Wold, 1022 Balmoral, Charles Ash, 899 Parklands, Russell Techtter, 945 Ellery, and Eugene Hunt, 348 Michigan.

The magistrate set bail for each of them at $3,500 with two sureties, or $5,000 with one. The hearing began Tuesday. The crown alleges that the four youths forced Bill Morgan, 3557 Saanich Road, into a car while he was hitchhiking on the Patricia Bay Highway April 7, beat him up, took $10, a watch and a camera and let him out of the car on lonely Durrance Road.

"Persons who steal from the unemployment insurance fund and have more than one count should go to jail," Magistrate Oetler said in Victoria magistrate's court yesterday.

But he said, after examining the probation record of William F. Evers, 1030 Costin, that he had decided Evers was "more stupid than criminal," and he fined Evers $50 on each of four counts of stealing from the fund. The magistrate said Evers and people like him seem to think the unemployment fund is a sort of private fund from which they can draw at will. But "it's the same as any other theft."

Douglas Spruston, 2036 Carnarvon, was sentenced to six months yesterday when he appeared in Oak Bay magistrate's court for sentence on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Magistrate Oetler said it was true that Spruston was a troubled man with emotional difficulties. But the magistrate said he had to consider the deterrent effect of his sentence. Spruston's offence involved two boys aged 11 and 12.

Leslie J. Buttery of 1203 Blanshard was sentenced to 14 days in jail and had his driver's licence suspended after he pleaded guilty in Victoria magistrate's court yesterday to drunken driving charges.

Court was told that, while driving on the wrong side of the line on the Johnson Street Bridge, Buttery forced a police car to swerve sharply to avoid a collision. After police stopped his car, a policeman had to reach in and turn the ignition off after the car backed onto the sidewalk and then moved forward again.

Black Going To Parley On Survival

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black will attend the fifth annual Western Army Command national survival conference at Hamilton, Ont., tomorrow in Edmonton on Monday.

The conference will be attended by provincial ministers of the western provinces, representatives of the Yukon and the District of Mackenzie, RCMP, RCAF, CBC emergency health, welfare, fire and telephone officials.

National survival problems will be discussed by the conference, headed by Maj. Gen. J. M. Recklingham, general officer commanding Western command.

Brig. E. D. Danby, B.C. area commander, will attend.

Prize Hand Finally Dealt

Their first 28 hand in 60 years of crib-playing was recorded yesterday by old friends Major E. P. Roberts, 1938 Ernest, and George Usher, 654 Drake.

Major Roberts was dealing and Mr. Usher cut the five of spades for the big hand. The two have averaged two aces of crib a week for 40 years. Until now, their prize hands were a 28 each.

Bridge Results

Winners in this week's tournament of the Victoria District Bridge Club were: Ross McNeill and Paul Reilly; Owen Brown and Len Macgregor; Evelyn Lambert and Walter Allen; and Marie Fortney; Lilian Lambert and Harry Brown; Bill McDonald and Eric Ward; Les Stewart and Art Ery; Jack Collier and Eric Harwood; Len Brown and Jo Whistler; and Mrs. Devlin Macleod and Ruby Macleod.

Winners of the regular weekly duplicate bridge tournament held at the Moose Hall were: (North-South) Bill Reid and Elton Fenn; (East-West) George MacCollie; Ellen Gilroy and Charles Miller; West: Mr. and Mrs. William West; Leslie Brown and Henry Murray; and Mrs. Ted Colgate; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Logan.

NAVY DIVERS

was fined $400 and bound over to keep the peace when he appeared in Victoria magistrate's court for sentence on a charge of indecent exposure.

Magistrate Oetler said the behavior of Hamilton, who had three previous convictions for similar offences in 1950 and 1953, is "caused by your continuing to drink when you know what it does to you."

Irvin Spill, 537 Johnson, was fined $50 and ordered to pay $37.37 restitution to Donald McAlpine, 1923 Quadra, after Spill pleaded guilty in Victoria magistrate's court to a wilful damage charge in the smashing with a rock of a three-foot-square plate glass window at McAlpine's house.

Spill told Magistrate Oetler that he had had a dispute with McAlpine at work and had wanted revenge.

Leonard Feeny was sentenced to a year when he pleaded guilty in Victoria magistrate's court yesterday to attempted breaking and entering. He is to serve the time following a one-year term he is now serving in New Westminster for another offence.

Court was told police staked out at the Royal Victoria Hotel Feb. 15 saw Feeny trying the doors of rooms.

Feeny asked for a concurrent 18-month sentence so he could get out of jail at the same time his wife does. The magistrate said he should take that matter up with the parole board.

W. R. Pick was acquitted in Victoria magistrate's court yesterday on charges of theft less than $50 and possession of stolen goods in the theft of three dresses from a parked car Aug. 31.

Magistrate Oetler said the testimony of one crown witness was completely contradicted by that of another. Pick was defended by J. E. Gatehouse.

George W. Brown of North Vancouver pleaded guilty in Victoria magistrate's court yesterday to driving while disqualified and impaired driving, and not guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. Trial on the dangerous driving charge and sentencing on the others will take place later.

Children's Summer Village On Island Plan for 1965

A children's summer village on Lower Vancouver Island by 1965, is the plan of the International Co-operation Year Committee of Victoria.

Residence Delayed Till Fall

One of the residences for women at the University of Victoria's Gordon Head campus will be built this summer, but it won't be ready for occupancy until fall.

It was hoped earlier that one residence would be ready for occupancy in time for summer school in July, and that the second would be ready in September.

NOT AVAILABLE

But, according to Mrs. Phoebe Noble, co-ordinator of women's activities at the university, more time is needed to provide eating facilities and furnishings and these things will not be available when the building deadline of June 29 arrives.

The two residences, close to the Student Union Building, will house 142 students and already 170 applications have been received.

In the coming week, now that exams are over, a committee of students will work on suggestions for a set of rules and regulations for residences.

Child Dead In Icebox

IMPERIAL BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A massive search for missing four-year-old Bebe Chaney ended late Wednesday night with the discovery of the tot's body in a tiny icebox outside her trailer home.

The villages will be inhabited by 11-year-olds from various countries who live together during the summer.

IN EUROPE

"They've had these villages in Europe for about 20 years," David Prosser, chairman of the inter-faith group, said last night.

"They've found that a high percentage of the children went into international social work when they grew up."

NONE ON PACIFIC COAST

There are villages in eastern Canada and parts of the U.S., but there is none in a region bordering the Pacific Ocean. The Vancouver Island village could be the first.

Purpose of the villages is to promote understanding between children as a basis for world peace.

Mr. Prosser said 11-year-olds can communicate with one another even though they can't speak a common language.

"Older and younger children don't have the same rapport," he said.

Anyone interested in the project can get more information from Rev. W. L. Dalton at HMCS Naden.

OTTAWA (CP)—A new concept of the functions of the federal works department—stimulation of the economy—was outlined briefly in the Commons Friday by Works Minister Deschatelets.

He gave one example: A proposal by a certain industry to build a plant if the government would provide a wharf and harbor dredging.

The minister referred to this as the "new orientation" of his department, which was prepared to study conditions in an area to see what steps could be taken to create economic activity.

Mr. Deschatelets also said his department is prepared to discuss with the provinces con-

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has been losing some 400 doctors a year for the last decade through emigration mostly to Canada, the U.S. and Australia, it is estimated here.

Dr. John Seale, writing in the British Medical Journal, says 3,425 doctors left Britain between 1954 and 1963. Of these 1,209 went to Canada, 953 to Australia, 747 to the U.S., 201 to New Zealand, 187 to South Africa and 120 to Southern Rhodesia.

After 101 days of the 1963-64 Antarctic whaling season, Norway's four expeditions have processed 232,525 barrels of oil.

Sealed Orders Point Way

Some 135 Boy Scouts in 12 troops from the Oak Bay district will set off on a 16-mile Camporee this morning—destinations unknown. The scouts, split into between 15 and 22 patrols, will assemble at Royal Oak Junior and Secondary School, West Saanich Road, at 9:30 a.m.

WONT KNOW

But until then they won't know where they have to go to pitch camp. They will receive sealed orders from their patrol leaders before setting off on their weekend hike and camp.

Each patrol leader will work out his route on a map—there are 10 different routes to each camp site—and after having it approved by leaders, the patrols will set off their own ways.

CAMP FIRE

Patrols have to arrive by 3 p.m. for a flag break. Then they will have to pitch camp and prepare supper. In the evening they will have a camp fire gathering and will have to provide their own entertainment with original impromptu campfire songs.

Sunday each patrol member will undergo special tests, and the whole of the weekend's activities will be noted at the end of the Camporee. Patrols will return to Victoria Sunday evening.

County Fools Big Bill

AYLESBURY (Reuters) — Taxpayers in Buckinghamshire got the bad news they had been expecting — Britain's £2,600,000 (£7,800,000) train robbery trial held in this English community near the scene of the holding will cost them £37,527 ($113,421).

The news was given at a meeting of the county council. As the crime was committed within the limits of the county the trial costs must be borne by it. The money will probably be raised by a higher county tax being levied.

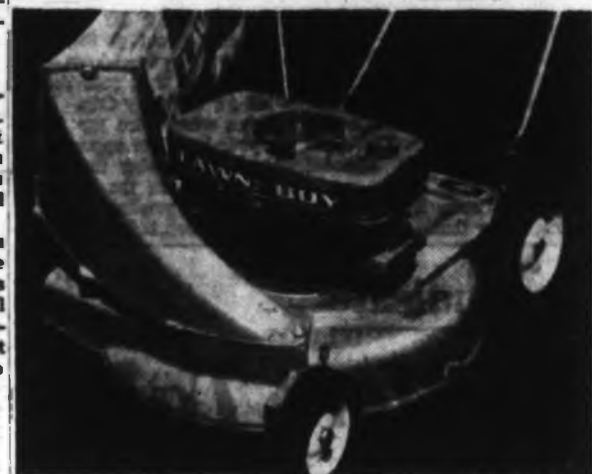

During the trial 12 men received sentences totalling 307 years for their parts in the hold-up.

1964 Lawn-Boy grasscatcher ends raking spring, summer and fall

In the spring Lawn-Boy's grasscatcher lets you tidy up the lawn without tedious raking. In the fall it collects leaves. In the summer, of course, it gathers grass so efficiently the neighbours will think you spent hours raking. The grasscatcher is no trouble to use because it comes on and off in seconds and empties in a shake or two. Even wet grass and leaves can't clog it.

Lawn-Boy's Finger-Tip-Start engine is the easiest to start in the world. Pushing is easy because Lawn-Boy is made from ultra-light magnesium. And, to be easy on the ears, Lawn-Boy is extra quiet. Its muffler is the largest on any mower.

See the 1964 Lawn-Boy at your dealer's soon. It's warranted for two full years—twice as long as any other mower.

Pearson and CBC Deny Pickersgill Demanded Air Time

OTTAWA (CP)—Charges by opposition MPs. were levelled Friday that Transport Minister Pickersgill forced the publicly-owned CBC to let him make a television statement on the government's air policy after he could not get the floor in the Commons.

The accusations were promptly denied by Prime Minister Pearson and the CBC.

STORM-CENTRE

For 90 minutes Mr. Pickersgill, until recently the minister who reported to Parliament on CBC matters, was the centre of a storm of opposition protests. Erik Nielsen (PC — Yukon) sought to move a motion condemning policy announcements by ministers outside the Commons but Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled it out of order.

JOIN FORCES

The storm arose following an announcement Thursday by Mr. Pickersgill that the government wants Trans-Canada Air Lines and Canadian Pacific Airlines to join forces on international air routes.

The transport minister was prevented from making the statement in the Commons Thursday because of procedural hassles, but after the adjournment of the House he made it on the CBC TV news and also to newspaper reporters.

'Work for Canada'

CPA Welcomes Joint Flight Plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines Friday welcomed Transport Minister Pickersgill's air policy announcement which asks Canada's two major airlines to work internationally under an integrated plan.

In a statement released here, CPA said it "welcomes the minister of transport's move to clarify air policy."

"For some time CPA has advocated greater co-operation between Air Canada (Trans-Canada Air Lines) and Canadian Pacific Airlines."

"The two Canadian carriers should work to the benefit of each other and hence Canada rather than to that of foreign carriers."

"CPA looks forward to further discussions with Air Canada."

Airlines Just 'Guided' —Not Told Policy

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Pickersgill said Friday the government is still evolving its civil aviation policy on the basis of further talks with Canada's airlines.

He indicated the policy could be ready early in June.

Mr. Pickersgill denied in the Commons that he laid down government air policy when he met the top officers of the two big airlines—Trans-Canada and Canadian Pacific—Monday. At this meeting, the airlines were given the principles on which the government plans to base its final 10-year policy.

Under these policy guidelines the government is aiming for:

1. A "single integrated plan" in the international operations of TCA and CPA.
2. Protection for TCA's mainline routes in Canada, with CPA to share in any future growth.
3. A reasonable role for regional air carriers in domestic air operations.

Fast Jets —In 1973

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines will not have supersonic aircraft in service until 1973, Clayton Glenn of Winnipeg, an aircraft evaluation expert with TCA, said Friday.

Mr. Glenn said in an interview that TCA, as a crown corporation, does not have the flexibility which allowed Canadian Pacific Airlines to place an order for three American supersonic planes.

Sports Fish Boats May Get Numbers

By ALEC MERRIMAN

NANAIMO — A system of sports fish boat registration is in the cards for the very near future.

This was indicated yesterday at the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs convention here by federal fisheries Pacific area director W. R. Hourston who said a report on the question of boat registration has been prepared and comments will be invited.

Sports fish boat registration can be introduced and be equally effective with or without a fee being charged. . . . fees are a separate issue and a matter of government policy, he said.

He said reason for the registration would be to help establish a system of obtaining the broader economic information now required about sports salmon fishing.

Mr. Hourston said he believed spring and coho salmon production in the Strait of Georgia area can be maintained and even increased through sound management of the resource.

He said his department has initiated a long range field investigation aimed at determining how, when and where spring and coho salmon can be best harvested to achieve optimum utilization.

He warned that extensive early season cropping of salmon (blue backing and grise fishing) reduces the availability of salmon during the following months.

He explained that investigations have now shown that by the time coho reach the blue-back stage they do not leave the Strait of Georgia area. "It means that the Strait of Georgia coho population is 'fixed' by early spring."

NEW COMMITTEE

Mr. Hourston outlined organization of the newly-created advisory committee on salt-water sports fishing for the Pacific area, of which he will be chairman, and which he explained is being set up to fill the need for an organized channel of direct communication between tidal sport fishermen and the fisheries department.

There will be 17 official members on the committee, largest segment of which will be 10 members, to be sport fishermen selected on a regional basis through consultation with the fish and game club federation.

MORE MEMBERS

The federation president and a member of Victoria's amalgamated conservation society will also be members. There will be one member representing fishing resorts, another for boat rentals, charter boats and marinas, and a third person to represent the sport fishing public agencies and information centres.

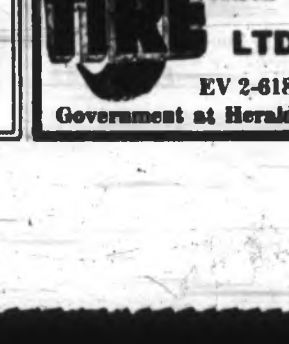

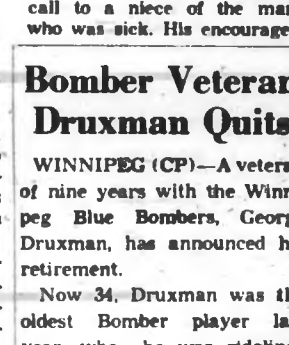

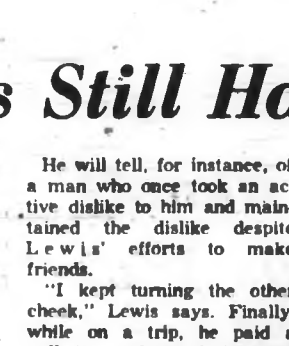

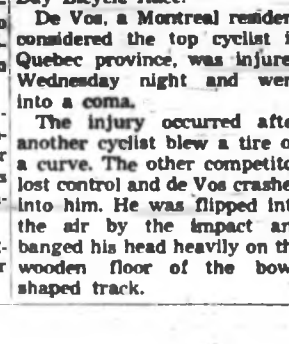

In addition there will be ex-officio members such as fisheries research station director Peter Larkin, and observers from the department of recreation.

It is understood Roderick Haig-Brown is also to be a member of the council.

13 First Derby Win Today?

Canada Looks to Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (CP)—E. P. Taylor's Northern Dancer is only second choice of the odds-makers here to win the fabled Kentucky Derby today—but almost every Canadian racing fan is pulling for him.

Horatio Luro, Taylor's trainer drew seventh position at the post for his horse in the 90th Run for the Roses.

ONES TO BEAT
Jockey Bill Hartack will be aboard the Dancer and Willie Shoemaker will ride Hill Rise. Pre-race experts figure these are the horses to beat in the $125,000-added derby.

Kentucky Derby may be seen over channels 2, 6, 7 and 13 at 2 p.m. today.

Luro says every horse must be treated as an individual.

"Northern Dancer requires work, but not too much. He is a generous horse. He ran slow in the Florida Derby—which he won handily—because of this generosity."

NOT YET THREE
Northern Dancer is by Nearctic out of a Native Dancer mare.

The Dancer won't be three years old until May 27. He has won his last five races.

Hill Rise returned to the kindergarten Friday. One of a thoroughbred's first lessons in getting acquainted with the starting gate, and that is just where Finnegan took the West Coast champion.

LITTLE NERVOUS
Hill Rise, the long-striding son of Hillary, winner of eight straight races for George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch of California, was sent to the starting gate with hopes it would help cure a little nervousness which Shoemaker noticed in last Tuesday's Derby Trial.

Hill Rise won the trial by 2 1/2 lengths in the eye-lifting time of 1:35 1/5 for one mile.

The gate was located at the starting point for the 1 1/4 miles of the derby. With Finnegan watching, the derby favorite was ridden into the gate and let stand there for several minutes before breezing three-eighths of a mile in 38 seconds.

CLOUDY WEATHER
The derby day forecast was partly cloudy and mild with a high of around 70 degrees.

Besides Hill Rise and Northern Dancer, other horses being favored are Paul Mellon's Quadrangle, and Californian Rax Ellsworth's The Scoundrel. Occasionally a good word was said for Roy Sturgis's Dallas-owned Mr. Brick and Roman Brother from Louis Wolfson's Harbor View Farm.

The others still rated as outsiders. They are Cecil Carmine's Dandy K.; Wil Rad, owned by Wilbur Clark and William Radkovich of California; Erle W. Davis' Extra Swell; Mrs. Magruder Dent's Mr. Moonlight; Ishkoodah from the Tulbierwood Stable and Emil Duet's Royal Shuck.

With 12 starters the value of Second Money is $25,000 with the race will be $156,800 with $12,500 to third and $5,000 to $114,300 going to the winner, fourth.

Net Fishing Evils Cited

NANAIMO (Staff) — Vic-

torian's amalgamated conservation society found an ally yesterday in American economist James Crutchfield who warned B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Club convention delegates about the dangers of net fishing at the entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait.

He warned that netting regulations were controlled by the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission for pink and sockeye without reference to coho conditions although netters also catch coho.

"The time will surely come when we gear up for big pink and sockeye runs at a time when there is a poor run of coho. Then we will have big problems," he said.

The best possible improvement for salmon fishing would be "to get rid of the excess gear which now plagues us," he said.

Puerto Rican Golfer Leads at Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) —

Puerto Rico's Chi-Chi Rodriguez, who weighs 120 pounds but hits a golf ball like a heavy-weight, battled through high wind and an occasional sandstorm Friday to take the lead in the second round of the $65,000 Tournament of Champions.

The 28-year-old five-foot-7 1/2 Rodriguez shot a two-under-par 70, one of only four players to break par in a round beset by gusts of wind that ranged from 30 to 45 miles an hour. He posted a 36-hole score of 139.

Jack Nicklaus remained in second place with a 73 for 141. The first-round leader, Doug Ford, shot a 75 for 142 and a tie with Gary Player and George Knudson of Toronto.

Arnold Palmer, co-favorite with Nicklaus in pre-tournament speculation, shot his second straight 72 and was tied at 144 with Doug Sanders and Don Fairfield.

Rodriguez and Knudson, each with a 70, and Player and Paul Harney, who had 71s, were the only four of the field of 29 who could break par.

The 41-year-old Ford was still in front at the turn with several of the field bunched closely behind.

MONTREAL (CP)—Belgian-

born Louis de Vos died Friday night of a head injury suffered while competing in Montreal's International Six-Day Bicycle Race.

De Vos, a Montreal resident considered the top cyclist in Quebec province, was injured Wednesday night and went into a coma.

The injury occurred after another cyclist blew a tire on a curve. The other competitor lost control and de Vos crashed into him. He was flipped into the air by the impact and banged his head heavily on the wooden floor of the bowl-shaped track.

Blind for Second Time

ness can help you see more clearly.

So says Ed (Strangler) Lewis, one of the world's greatest wrestlers who at 75 is living in darkness for the second time in his life.

Lewis first lost his sight more than 40 years ago, when he was at the height of his wrestling career. He regained his sight, but lost it again about three years ago.

"In the last three years I have gained in spirit," Lewis says. "I have come to realize a true sense of values through this tribulation."

Lewis attributes his earlier regaining of sight to God, saying doctors everywhere

Strangler Lewis Still Has Faith had said he would never see again after a bout with trachoma, an eye disease. Through prayer, he regained his sight. And he still has hope he will see again.

"If God was able to heal me once, He can do it again," Lewis says. "so I'm absolutely confident." At times, he adds, it seems he can see finger movements and lights.

DEEPLY RELIGIOUS
Lewis is a deeply religious man. For the last 20 years, he has spoken frequently to church and youth organizations. Blindness has cut his travel, but he still covers an area around Tulsa.

Lewis spends an hour or two each day studying scriptures and metaphysical writings. He preaches a philosophy of love and kindness.

His speeches mix biblical teachings with his own experiences and his own philosophy.

He will tell, for instance, of a man who once took an active dislike to him and maintained the dislike despite Lewis' efforts to make friends.

"I kept turning the other cheek," Lewis says. Finally, while on a trip, he paid a call to a niece of the man who was sick. His encouragement helped her overcome her illness—and the man "became one of my best friends."

Extension Granted

Angry Scotswoman Can Stay for Year

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth McGarvie, 60-year-old mother who said she was treated like a criminal by immigration authorities in Winnipeg last month, has been granted permission to remain in Canada for a year.

Announcement of the extension of his mother's 30-day visit permit was made Friday by her son, David, one of three children Mrs. McGarvie had left Scotland to visit.

The extension also applies to his sister, Joyce, 18, who arrived with Mrs. McGarvie.

"Because of falsehoods, distortion and mistreatment from the time of her arrival at Winnipeg airport until the extension was granted for one year, my mother's vacation has been a miserable nightmare," McGarvie said in a statement.

Mrs. McGarvie, of Edinburgh, was questioned for five hours after she landed at Winnipeg airport April 5. Immigration officials ordered her returned to Scotland after they said she refused to co-operate.

She was permitted to remain in Canada for 30 days after her son, David, and William, of Stittville, Ont., accepted full responsibility for her.

McGarvie said his mother now is staying with Mrs. Norma Mitchell of Sidney, her daughter.

'Mission from Nixon'

Armed Man Halted In Governor's Office

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—An armed man who fancied himself on a mission from former vice-president Richard Nixon was arrested Friday when he tried to force his way into the office of Gov. George Romney.

State police identified the man as Charles P. English, 37, Miami Fla., and held him for investigation of carrying a concealed weapon.

"FBI AGENT"

English, who claimed he was an undercover agent for the FBI and wanted to talk about politics and communism with Romney, was a defeated Republican candidate for the Florida House of Representatives in 1962.

English was collared by State Policeman Jay Kennedy, one of Romney's bodyguards, just as he started to shove his way into the Governor's private office.

Romney, who took the incident lightly, said, "He came in and said 'Dick Nixon made an appointment for me with you. There's Gov. Romney and I want to talk to him.'"

GUN IN CASE

English left the inner office without a fuss, Kennedy said, and said he'd wait outside until he could see Romney. Kennedy then made a check with state police headquarters and was informed the man could be a person previously arrested on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Because of this Kennedy demanded English open the attache case he carried, but the man refused.

"I arrested him then and opened the brief case. The gun, a loaded, chrome-plated .38 calibre revolver was in there with a camera and some political literature. He had a jackknife with a 3-inch blade in his rear pocket," Kennedy said.

Turtle Back For Reunion

BEECHER CITY, Ill. (AP)—An old acquaintance turned up again Thursday and Jacob Julius reached for his knife—again.

Two boys found and brought to the 64-year-old farmer a turtle on which Julius first carved his initials and the year — 1917. The years of subsequent meetings also are engraved on the shell: 1921, 1925, 1935.

Hay River Runoff Normal This Year

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP)—An orderly spring runoff has started on the Hay River, a far cry from the debacle which faced residents in this island community exactly one year ago.

The first runoff water moved out of the mouth of the Hay River and into Great Slave Lake this week and aerial surveys revealed no build-up of ice or water upstream.

ICE FILED UP

One year ago ice on the river piled up and then snapped free. Powered by a huge flood crest it overran Vale Island and forced more than 1,000 of this centre's 1,800 residents to flee from homes. Hundreds were airlifted to safety.

Homes were crushed and businesses smashed. Large buildings were pushed hundreds of yards from their foundations. No lives were lost.

Damage totalled more than $1,000,000 and in the last year resettlement of the residential population started at a safe mainland site two miles from this community.

Man Held Year Without Charge Quits Jail Soon

A young man held in B.C. jails for a year without charge or conviction may be released from custody soon, an official of the attorney-general's department said yesterday.

Lawyer Gordon Dowding, an NDP member of the legislature for Burnaby, protested Thursday against the detention of Paul McCullough of Chilliwack.

McCullough was charged two years ago with attempted murder for taking a rifle into a crowded street and firing one shot "in the general direction of people sitting in a cafe."

He was found not guilty by reason of insanity, sent to Escondale, treated for a year and declared cured.

McCullough then was sent to Oakalla and later went to a Chilliwack forest camp.

The Victoria official said he was returned to Oakalla April 6 for a medical examination "with a view to his release from custody."

He said the review is still in progress and added his transfer

Rush Likely This Weekend

The first big entries are expected this weekend in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest, which opened its 10th annual edition yesterday.

Fishing was reported fairly spotty in Greater Victoria during the first 24 hours, with too much wind in exposed areas.

SAANICH INLET

Only in Saanich Inlet was anyone catching anything, and the biggest were under 10 pounds.

But all the boathouses said a good rush of fishermen could be expected today and tomorrow—in the opening effort for the 1964 contest's long list of prizes.

NEW ZEALAND TRIP

Biggest of all, the main hidden-weight prize at contest's end Oct. 31, is an all-expenses-paid trip for two to New Zealand via Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Only Colonist subscribers are eligible for merchandise prizes like this trip. There are more than 200 weigh-in stations from here to Port McNeill. They'll be listed in the Colonist shortly.

Hot new Johnson 90 HP!
For all its brute power, costs less to run than any outboard in its class

Johnson's torrid new 90 hp. is built for people who like to pass everything, including a few gas pumps! It has all the power of the biggest outboards built, without their ravenous appetite for gas! Johnson's big 90 has a 4-barrel carburetor, one barrel for every cylinder. It meters fuel so efficiently, the 90 uses no more gas than outboards with 16% less horsepower...and far less fuel than outboards in the same general or greater horsepower range. Because the 90 uses Johnson's proven "V" engine design, weight and bulk are kept to a minimum; dependability is guaranteed. As well, the 90 has Johnson's automatic electric clutch installed as standard equipment—you don't pay a penny extra! Take a look at Johnson's hot new 90 hp. soon...it has a powerful lot to offer.

V-75... available for 1964 in two models, Electramatic V-75 and standard V-75. Both offer electric starting as standard equipment.

2 YEAR WARRANTY
Every new Johnson in now warranted for two full years.

13 models in nine hp. sizes: 90, 75, 60, 40, 28, 18, 9.5, 5.5, 3.1

Better Dead Than Injured —For Compensation Board

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe said it is cheaper for the Workmen's Compensation Board if a worker is killed rather than maimed. He was commenting on statistics introduced at the royal commission on compensation by F. H. Clark, chief assessment officer of the board.

Bridge Ban

NEW YORK (AP) — Teams from the United Arab Republic and Lebanon are under orders from their governments not to play an Israeli team in the 30-country world bridge Olympiad here.

The comments followed nine days of tangled testimony which Commissioner Tysoe described as confusing. Exhibits involved statistics, tables and audit reports from the board.

The statistics introduced by Mr. Clark showed the average cost of fatal claims in 1962 was $15,600 compared to $87,500 for the average cost of permanent disability.

'Doctors Rush Injured to Work'

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. T. McKelvie, corner at Wells in the Cariboo, Friday said a mining company was partly to blame for the death of Gustave (Old Gus) Kovlaski, 60. He charged — "speaking of the mining industry in general"—that doctors hired by mining companies are often told to get injured men back to work quickly so compensation rates will be kept low.

Mr. McKelvie said he was satisfied that in this case Kovlaski went back to work before he was well. "I have reports that after a month from an employee in-

He Lost His Teeth But Not His Head

SALFORD, England (UPI) — A 45-year-old driver who had a coughing fit obeyed the law that prohibits stopping on the highway and kept on driving—even though his false teeth fell out of the window of his car.

Yesterday, Salford's health executive council ruled "there was no lack of care" by the motorist and agreed to pay five pounds, 12 shillings for his new set of teeth.

White Freed in Slavery Case

FLORENCE, S.C. (UPI) — A white tobacco grower charged in South Carolina's first slavery case in nearly 50 years was found innocent last night of forcing a Negro farmhand to work in his fields.

An all-white jury of nine men and three women deliberated one hour and 40 minutes before finding 48-year-old Robert Moultrie Cook not guilty.

He was specifically charged with beating Negro Max Roy McKennie, 44, with a pistol April 27, 1963, to force him to work in a tobacco field.

many. U.S. District Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. gave the jurors 20 minutes of instruction and definition on the charges. Cook also took the stand to testify.

When the verdict was announced at 6:08 p.m., Cook grabbed his wife's hand and that of his lawyer. "This is wonderful. It's the best news I've had in over a year," he said, giving his wife a kiss.

The defence paraded more than 20 witnesses to the stand to testify in Cook's behalf.

Construction Soars To All-Time High

Future Coming

A simulated trip through space and time in a full-scale model space cabin will be one of the special features of the Jayco's Victoria Exhibition and Fair, May 11 to 16.

Presented by the Ye Men of the YMCA, the science spectacular, "Adventure With Dr. Zora" was featured at the Pacific National Exhibition two years ago.

City hall building permit totals soared to an all-time high for the first four months in any year last month, after a deceptively slow start on construction earlier this year.

Construction value by the end of April totalled $4,396,130—up $103,199 over the same period last year in the city.

Victoria issued 569 permits during April with an estimated value of $2,052,899, compared with 525 permits worth $1,531,772 in April last year.

GREATER VALUE
Totals to date this year were 2,127 permits worth $4,396,130, compared with 2,045 permits worth $4,292,931 last year.

Big items included St. Joseph's Hospital expansion, $800,000; civic theatre and restaurant, $373,100; and a 44-unit apartment block, $300,000.

SANICH FIGURES
Sanich issued 104 permits last month worth $1,800,677, including 49 houses worth $740,500, compared with 98 permits for April last year worth $3,122,876, including 40 houses worth $568,800.

This brought the four-month total to 394 permits this year worth $4,986,825, including 166 houses worth $2,395,650, compared with 406 permits in 1963 worth $5,217,043, including 177 houses worth $2,365,169.

BEHIND LAST YEAR
A $900,000 Woolco department store permit was issued last month, plus an increase in house building, but figures still fell behind last year when the $2,399,000 federal forestry laboratory permit was issued in April.

OAK BAY TOTALS
Oak Bay issued 53 permits, including nine houses worth $192,000, valued at $331,486 in April, compared with 41 permits, including four houses worth $52,000, valued at $220,200 last year.

Total permits so far this year is 141, worth $918,367, compared with 148 worth $932,967 last year.

ESQUIMALT VALUES
In Esquimalt, 25 permits including six houses worth $86,000 and one apartment block worth $130,000, valued at $321,400 were issued in April. Last year in April 16 permits were issued valued at $455,135, including three houses worth $41,000 and one apartment block worth $400,000.

Esquimalt's total so far this year is 62 permits worth $984,147.

New Approach

Survey Seeks Teachers

A new angle of attack on the teacher shortage is being taken by the education department.

Education minister Leslie Peterson announced Friday his department is conducting an immediate survey to discover the number of people in B.C. who hold university degrees and would be interested in becoming certified teachers.

YEAR'S TRAINING
At present, a person with an acceptable degree must take a year's professional training but in some cases this is not always possible.

Mr. Peterson said the survey does not indicate the teacher shortage is any more acute now than it has been for some time.

ADS IN PAST
"In the past we have advertised, asking married teachers to return to the profession," he said.

This is a new method of fact-finding and the results of the survey could mean a new approach to teacher training. But, the minister was careful to add, this is not definite and he does not want to prejudge the results of the survey.

Squadron Opens Season

All Greater Victoria yachtsmen have been invited to take part in a sailpast at 2:30 p.m. today marking the opening of the sailing season for the Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association's Esquimalt squadron.

Vice Commodore James Johnson will lead the squadron's 24-boat fleet in shore past Commodore J. R. Sharpe in waters just off the RCNCA clubhouse at Munroe Head, Esquimalt.

Air Force Plans Annual Party

Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island will hold its annual spring party in the former Officers' Mess, RCAF Building, 1212 Quadra, 6:30 p.m.

40 Cadets Going On Cruise

Forty Royal Roads officer cadets who have passed their second year final exams leave this morning on Exercise Northbound VI, a week's cruise aboard three naval harborcraft.

Training will consist of navigation and ship manoeuvres and will take them to Montague Harbor, Nanaimo Bay, Powell River, Holtham Sound, Port Mellon and Vancouver. They will return May 9.

Magistrate Gets Hike In Salary

Victoria Magistrate William Ostler's salary was hiked to $14,500 a year by cabinet order yesterday — an increase of $1,500.

The salary is paid by the province and the four Greater Victoria municipalities.

B.C. puts up $1,000 a year. Victoria $7,500, Saanich $3,700, and Esquimalt and Oak Bay $1,300 each.

MORE RESEARCH
The report also recommended more use be made of research facilities available through the provincial and federal governments and the universities.

Federal grants are available for the study of air pollution by recognized institutions and the report also suggested application be made to Ottawa for an accelerated tax exemption on air pollution control devices.

Victoria High

School's Half-Century Memory-Provoking

By TED GASKELL

Half a century flashed by in seconds for many of the 1,500 former students who gathered last night to celebrate Victoria High School's 50th anniversary.

The first Victoria high school was built on Grant Street in 1867 and it had two more homes before 1914, when some Victoria residents complained the proposed $450,000 building on Fernwood was "too large, too expensive and in the wrong place."

But built it was and through its halls have passed many students who have made their mark.

The gathering was a far cry from 1914 when a teacher needed a good strong voice to reach the back rows of the auditorium in assemblies.

Speeches made in the auditorium last night were heard in the gymnasium through a closed circuit TV hookup with eight receivers lined around the walls so the 500 people who could get seats in the auditorium could follow the proceedings.

How many students of 50 years and more ago expected to see a thing like that? Certainly not, for one, Miss Frances Ann Brown who won the Governor-General's medal when she graduated in 1915 and left to spend 40 years as a teacher.

But then, a lot of things have happened that they didn't expect. You could almost read their minds as they walked around the rooms and looked at pictures of classes, clubs and teams.

"Look at him," they were thinking. "I never thought when I sat behind him that one day he'd be a judge."

You never know how things will turn out.

How many students of 40 or 50 years ago thought, when they went in deep respect of the principal, that one day they would be on their feet giving him a standing ovation?

But that happened last night.

H. L. Smith, 40 years on the staff and principal from 1934 to 1955, received such a greeting as he rose to recall the famous men who had been students.

He mentioned the late Byron Johnson and Ira Dilworth, the latter the first grad to become principal and also the youngest principal—at 32.

He also named Judges J. B. Clearhue, T. G. Norris, Robert Wootton, Herbert Davey and Alan Maclean; former bank head John Proctor, hockey's Lynn and Murray Patrick, writer Bruce Hutchison and the Wallace brothers, deputy provincial secretary Lawrie, University of Victoria dean Bob and Oak Bay principal John.

The former Ada Schwenger, mother of Liberal M.L.A. Pat McGeer, was a student, as were Miss Sara Spencer and librarian Margaret Clay.

G. A. V. Thomson, the present principal, called on such speakers as Harry Dee, former principal and now supervisor of Greater Victoria, and T. P. Levins, superintendent for the department of education.

Mr. Thomson himself did some educational "namedropping" in reading a report of the opening day at Victoria high school.

T. W. Patterson, the lieutenant governor, was at the opening. Chairman was George Jay, municipal inspector was E. B. Paul, principal was S. J. Willis—all names of significance in Victoria's education history.

Members of the Y-Teens Club, a school affiliate of the YWCA, handed out name cards to the 1,500 visitors.

Many filled in their class-reunion cards at the desk used by architect Elwood Watkins, in his field office as he supervised construction in 1914.

Two generations of former students who were guests last night were Mrs. Lily Wilson and her daughter, Mrs. Marnie Coburn.

Member of earliest graduating class represented, that of 1895, is Miss Frances Ann Brown with her friend, Miss Margaret Fletcher, class of 1926.

World Spanned in Words

By DON GAIN

Headless Valley, Bombay Harbor and California housewives all came up in impromptu speeches by Dale Carnegie graduates of a trade, school dropouts, happiness, plastering and smoking.

"Smoke menthol," this last speaker said. "If you're not going to stop smoking, you might as well die with a mint-flavored breath."

Impromptu talks were given on everything from hats to holidays. One man told of being stranded in Headless Valley in the Commonwealth to make the course available to its inmates.

Another described a close call in Bombay when servicemen shifted a bomb dump to save the city from being wiped out. Still another recalled a hitch-hiking trip in the U.S. "from basket to basket."

Six of the graduates gave speeches on the topic What I gained from the course talks. The B.C. penitentiary is the first institution of its kind in the Commonwealth to make the course available to its inmates.

"SHE LOOKS OLD!" IS THAT WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT YOU?

No woman wants to look old, but so many do—because of dry skin caused by harsh weather, indoor heat, low-fat diets. That's why you should know about POND'S DAY SKIN CREAM. This famous cream contains Allantoin—a substance that goes to work in just 10 minutes to repair skin robbed of natural moisture. Allantoin gently disperses life's surface cells... speeds penetration of Pond's rich moisturized lanolin to thirty times faster. Almost overnight, dry lines, flakiness disappear... your skin looks soft, smooth, young again! Use POND'S DAY SKIN CREAM regularly. Buy it in the jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold.

Three years of hard work and study will be climaxed on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Royal Theatre when 62 young nurses of Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing receive their RN pins at special graduation exercises. Cuff Link Tea Honors Grads

This year's 62 graduates of the Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing were honored by the Junior Auxiliary at a cuff link tea held in the nurses' residence Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. R. W. Campbell, auxiliary president, presented gold cuff links to each of the graduating nurses.

Among the special guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Masters, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Murray Anderson and Mrs. Ingrid Reidel, winner of this year's $600 bursary.

An attractive arrangement of tulips, in the school's colors of red and white, centred the tea table, which was presided over by Miss Muriel Thompson, Miss Elizabeth Moore, Miss F. Ferguson and Miss Dianne Williston, president of the Students' Council.

Servitors were Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. A. P. Raimy, Mrs. F. Bartholomew, Mrs. N. Scott and Mrs. P. Hughes. Mrs. D. Longridge, Mrs. J. Swemle and Mrs. J. Seaborne were conveners. Mrs. Bartholomew was in charge of flower arrangements.

Women Talk On Careers

Over 70 students and several teachers of the Junior High Schools of Greater Victoria, attended the Career Preview program held at the YWCA. It was sponsored by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club with Mrs. M. Y. Wickens as chairman.

Mrs. S. Booker, spoke on entering as a business. Miss Helen Oldfield gave the girls an idea of what was expected of a public stenographer and business generally.

Miss Ruth M. Adams spoke on some aspects of social welfare work giving an insight into the many varied and interesting duties of a social worker.

The speakers were thanked by Mrs. E. Webster, acting president of the club.

Newlyweds Travel CN For Honeymoon In East

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bliss returned recently via Canadian National from a wedding trip in Eastern Canada. Both expressed the highest praise for the "new dimension" in train travel created by CN. "We decided to go CN when we inquired about the new low Red, White and Blue Fares," Mr. Bliss said, "particularly when we learned that complimentary meals were included with all sleeping car accommodations." After stepping aboard they discovered a lot of other reasons for travelling Canadian National too, they report. "The friendliness and fun in such a wonderful relaxing atmosphere was a pleasant surprise to me," Mrs. Bliss recounted, "I hadn't been on a train in years. I especially enjoyed the hospitality hour in the mornings and the evening bingo games. Next time we travel we're looking forward to going CN again and my husband has decided to travel CN on all his business trips from now on too. We really found out for ourselves that trains don't take time... they give it!" Why don't you take a tip from Mr. and Mrs. Bliss and go Canadian National next time you travel.

Baptize Cousins

ALBERNI — Two little cousins were christened Sunday in All Saints' Anglican Church with Rev. John Frith officiating.

Michael Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, and Jane Maureen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bruner, are grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. C. Jones. Michael's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Peterson, and Jan's paternal grandfather is George Bruner.

Godparents for Michael were Mrs. Allen Evans, James Berry, with the youngster's father acting as proxy for Ken Jones. Jane's godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ken Radlac.

Gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones following the christening were the parents, godparents, grandparents, Allen Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bruner with Maria, Donald and Terrie, Miss Gay and Miss Kathy Bruner.

Mother's Pearls Worn by Bride

Blue iris, jonquils and cherry blossoms were at the altar in St. Alban's Anglican Church for the wedding of Patricia Anne Elizabeth Bridges and Mr. Robert Dale Randall.

Rev. F. W. Hayes officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Bridges, 2542 Belmont Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Randall, Birtle, Man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in an original gown of peau de chamois featuring a floor-length slim, belted skirt and highlighted with an appliqued guipure lace cummerbund. The fitted bodice was styled with high round neckline and lily-point sleeves. For "something borrowed" she wore her mother's pearls. Her shoulder-length veil mated from a peau de chamois coronet. She carried a cascade of Talisman roses on her white prayer book.

The Misses Georgina and Teresa Bridges, as their sister's only attendants, were gowned alike in delft blue taffeta dresses featuring scooped necklines and belted skirts. They wore matching whimsies and birthstone pendants, gift of the bride and groom. White carnations were in their cascade bouquets.

Mr. Dallas Randall was best man for his brother, Mr. David Donaldson ushered. Mr. Arthur Lambrick proposed the toast to his goddaughter at a reception held later at the bride's home.

For a honeymoon trip to Winnipeg, Man., the bride changed into an imported mauve tweed suit with beige accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home in Eastern Canada, where the groom is stationed with the RCAF. His present posting is at St. Sylvestre, Que.

'How Madly Gay' Said Sam, 9

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — "We have nine children," said Lionel Burleigh, 57, "and after 25 years of going steady I think Vivian and I should get married."

"I don't feel a man should get married until he's had children. I feel very strongly on the subject."

Burleigh and Vivian, 44, tried to get married Wednesday but the Holborn registry office told them to come back next Wednesday. He didn't have the right papers.

The couple was accompanied to the registry office by four of their children. As they left the office 9-year-old Samuel asked: "Are you married yet?"

"No," replied Vivian, "Daddy didn't have the papers showing his old divorce had been made absolute. So we can't get married today."

"Oh, dear," said Samuel, "how madly gay."

"I got a divorce in 1944," Burleigh told reporters. "I thought the absolute decree came along automatically. I've got the papers somewhere. We'll be back next week with the proper documents."

When William, 12, showed annoyance, his sister Mercedes, 19, said:

"You've waited 12 years for them to get married. A few more days shouldn't hurt you."

To reporters she added: "I was against their getting married at first. They've been living together for 25 years. There didn't seem much point in getting married but it's what they want."

Vivian calls herself Mrs. Vivian Burleigh and laughingly refused to give any other name.

"When we make out our marriage certificate it'll be known," she said. "Wait till then if you're interested."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old son is going with a lovely girl who is 15. She is a refined, intelligent person and popular with both students and faculty. The problem is her parents' peculiar idea of discipline.

The girl can accept one date a week, either on Friday or Saturday night. She must be at home by 12:30 a.m. Her parents are usually in bed by the time she gets home but she must knock on their bedroom door and announce that she is there.

Then—and this is what baffles us, Ann—she may entertain her date as late as she wishes.

Last night our son got home from her place at 4:30 a.m. We don't think this is right. Would it be proper for my husband to call the girl's father and ask him to please send the boy home by 1 o'clock? Or should we stay out of it and let the boy use his own judgment?—OVER A BARREL

Dear Barrels: You HAVE been letting your son use his own judgment and it's terrible. It's shocking that so many parents of boys feel the girl's parents should make all the rules.

Your son is a minor and you are responsible for him. Insist that he is at home by 1:15. This hour allows plenty of time for fond farewells.

Dear Ann Landers: For Christmas my husband's ex-wife left a gift for him under our tree. It was a half-dozen boxer-type shorts and a half-dozen undershirts.

I suggested to Ellis that he return the gift because it was too personal. To make the point, I asked him how he'd like it if another man gave me a panty and bra set for Christmas. He said I was out of my cotton-pickin' mind and that it was not the same thing.

We've been arguing about the shirts and shorts since December and he still refuses to see it my way. Please settle this before July because Ellis has a birthday coming up and she might do the same thing again.—JANE

Dear Jane: Sorry Doll, but I think you're making a whale out of a minnow. Men's shorts

Rickey doesn't have as big an appetite as his brothers but his father insists that he clean his plate. Every night there's a battle. My heart aches for the boy.

Will you say something in your column about forcing children to eat.—GUEST IN THE HOUSE.

Dear Guest: No person (regardless of age) should be forced to eat at any time, for any reason. The stomach is not prepared to receive food when a person is emotionally upset. Children who are forced to clean their plates sometimes develop stomach trouble which can plague them for the rest of their lives.

He is very strict with his sons, which is all right, but it is heart-breaking the way he picks on the middle boy during supper and then forces him to eat.

Rickey is only seven. He is not as bright as his older brother, nor as cute as his younger brother. In addition to his other problems he must wear thick glasses and he has a hearing problem.

50th Anniversary Marked at Gorge

Fifty years ago a corner lot was purchased at Tillikum and Walter Avenue and $500 was collected by residents of the Gorge to begin construction of a Presbyterian church.

Today the old building is still used as a church hall for Gorge Presbyterian Church. A new church was built and dedicated in 1954.

Members of First Presbyterian Church, as well as area residents, contributed considerably in volunteer labor to construction of the first building.

The idea of building the church began when members of the congregation of First Presbyterian Church (now First United) approached Rev. John Gibson Inkster. They were residents of the Gorge area and were concerned with providing Sunday school for the many children in the district.

APPROVED IN 1914
Construction was approved on Feb. 16, 1914, when Mr. Inkster met with his elders and Gorge residents.

"The building was dedicated on May 3 by Mr. Inkster, who conducted the opening service with a capacity congregation in attendance. Sunday school opened the following Sunday and was inaugurated by Hubert Williston."

In 1915 Rev. S. Lundie became first minister and served until 1917. He was followed by Rev. Daniel Walker, 1917 to 1927; Rev. A. O. Thomson, 1927 to 1933; Rev. T. H. McAllister, 1934 to 1958, and Rev. J. C. Boyne, 1959 to 1962. Present minister is Rev. W. J. Klempa. At present 200 families are associated with the church and there are 150 children in the church school.

GUEST PREACHER
Guest preacher at the 50th anniversary services at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday will be Rev. W. R. Bell of Cook's Presbyterian Church, Chilliwack. Rev. T. H. McAllister will preach evening service. The morning lesson will be read by Lady and Foresta Minister Lady Williston, whose father was first superintendent of the Sunday school. Evening lessons will be read by Rev. Alan M. Beaton, clerk of the presbytery in Victoria, and John Tisdalle, MLA for Saanich.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

When I was a small boy, Mother took me to visit a great-aunt on Sunday afternoons. On a living-room table was a figure of three little monkeys, one with its paws over its ears, another holding its mouth and the third covering its eyes. The pious caption read, "See no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil." The motto has impressed a great many people, but not, unfortunately, everybody.

Take, for example, those rude people who draw attention to the poverty existing in the "affluent state" of the U.S.A. That children are undernourished, living in incredible slum conditions that have to be seen to be believed, is a fact we should ignore.

Hochstetler's marathon (eight-hour) play, The Deputy, has excited much controversy from Broadway to Berlin for its allegation that Pope Pius XII kept silent when he should have spoken against the persecution of the Jews. However fair or unfair this may be I cannot say, but which of us could throw stones? Desperately the Jews sought sanctuary from Nazi pogroms, but Canada barred the doors so that the Jewish percentage of population from 1931 to 1941 declined!

The record of Canada and the Church regarding Nazi atrocities to the Jews is black. Glimpses of light do break through, as Einstein bears witness that the Church alone spoke out in Germany. Heroic individuals succoured them in that awful time, but how weak the voice and how poor the help compared with what might have been!

To find a scapegoat for our cowardice and shame is the customary technique of our crooked minds and hearts.

Of course, there are ways of avoiding troublesome problems. Let the preachers confine themselves to such subjects as that developed by Mr. Fuller in More Secondhand God (Southern Illinois University Press). Dynamaxion Energetic Geometry and Topological Hierarchies. Let choirs sing more fancy anthems, substituting frolics and aesthetics for faith.

Need Not Be Dull

This need not be dull. A group called the Chancel Dancers has been organized by the Sacred Dance Guild of New York. Joy Webb, described as a "guitar-playing attractive brunette, with her Joy Strings is adapting twist music for religious purposes with It's An Open Secret."

Surely here we can escape from such uncomfortable strictures as that of Dwight Darnold who relates in The Crusade For Freedom how the Church failed to meet the slavery and racial problem of the United States. We can shrug off the fact that 11 a.m. Sunday is the most segregated hour in the week. We need pay no attention to the paganism of CBC. In any event the conscience of the Church has been anesthetized by soft suburban living.

When Job was examining himself for sins he might have committed to bring such suffering upon him, he wondered if he had ever "kept quiet within doors, afraid of what the crowd would say, dreading public opinion." Such a sin scares few of us. We're good monkeys!

Going Abroad

Rev. J. L. W. McLean of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will leave Victoria to attend general assemblies of the Church of Scotland and the Presbyterian Church in Ireland this month. He will also preach in London, England, during his trip. He will visit in Europe and Nigeria and attend the 19th council of the Presbyterian World Alliance in Frankfurt, Germany, in August as an official delegate. He will be accompanied by Mrs. McLean.

Excommunicated Couple 'Not Criticizing Church'

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—An excommunicated couple said Thursday they intended no criticism of the Episcopal (Anglican) Church in a letter-writing uproar over a high school musical production.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Clores of Ionia were excommunicated by their pastor, Rev. Raymond E. Bierlein, after accusing him of having "archaic beliefs and moral knowledge."

CHARGE PUBLISHED
The Clores objected to Bierlein's assertion that a dance performed by a girl was "sacileous." The couple's charge was published by the Ionia Sentinel-Standard.

"We did not, nor would not, set aside respect for God's church," the Clores said Thursday in a statement published in the newspaper. "If we did this, we would have no basis for moral criticism, good or bad."

RESPECT ASIDE
The pastor said the Clores set aside respect for the church in their comments on his criticism of 16-year-old Kristi Honson's dance. She had danced off stage and pinched cheeks in the audience during her performance in Damn Yankees.

A vestryman, Robert Beach, said the pastor would reconsider conditions. One was that the Clores write the pastor saying they did not mean to criticize the church or its moral thinking. The second was that the Clores assert they did not intend to speak for the congregation.

Chinese-Canadian Misses Boat, Dies

HONOLULU — Kwong Hia Mah, 68-year-old Chinese-Canadian, stranded in Honolulu last Friday after missing his ship to Hong Kong, died Thursday in hospital here.

He had been found wandering, lost and rain-soaked, in downtown Honolulu with the equivalent of $4,300 on his person.

He was taken to hospital two days later suffering apparently with pneumonia and a heart condition. He had gone ashore, he said, to do some sightseeing and missed his boat.

Police said he was a sawmill hand in Vancouver, B.C., and was on his way to Hong Kong to join his family.

HONOLULU — Joan Merriam Smith, the flying housewife from California, landed safely at Wake Island Thursday night to complete the 1,300-mile flight from Guam in 12 hours 18 minutes. She is in the final stages of an around-the-world solo flight.

LONDON — Lady Nancy Astor, 84, the Virginia beauty whose tongue became the terror of the British House of Commons, Friday was "sinking fast" and reported near death at the Lincolnshire home of her daughter, Lady Annesley.

BOSTON — Norwood, Mass., police provided a heavy guard for Richard Cardinal Cushing during a visit to St. Catherine's Church Thursday night but both police and the cardinal later denied reports a threat had been made on his life.

LONDON — Italian premier Aldo Moro left here by boat-train Friday for Rome after a five-day visit and talks with the British government.

TOKYO — Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan is to arrive in Tokyo May 13 at the head of an 11-man Russian parliamentary delegation for a two-week stay at the invitation of the Japanese Diet parliament.

POSITANO, Italy — Prince Irene of The Netherlands and Prince Carlos of Bourbon-Parma were honeymooning Friday in this resort on the Amalfi coast, tight-lipped about their future plans.

TOKYO — British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler arrived in Tokyo Friday to exchange views with Premier Hayato Ikeda and Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira.

MASHPEE, Mass. — A groom

Pound Ready To License Elephants

VANCOUVER (CP) — Elephants, dandelions and fire-breathing monsters—Vancouver city pound has licenses for them all.

"You can get a dog licence for anything," George Massey, city poundkeeper, said Friday.

He was replying to Dale Proud, who facetiously applied for and obtained a $2 licence for "one chimera, male" following a pound employee's sleuthing.

Mr. Massey wasn't aware his department had licensed a mythical creature—defined as a fire-breathing monster—until Mr. Proud's prank was reported Thursday.

"You can get a licence for a dandelion in your front lawn," Mr. Massey retorted. "An elephant if you want. It's fine with us as long as you pay for it."

Mr. Proud applied for the chimera licence after a pound employee inspected his home and reported there were three dogs on the property.

Mr. Proud admitted owning two dogs—but maintained the third was merely a figment of the city's imagination.

Methodists Decide To Integrate

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Delegates to the world-wide Methodist general conference voted acceptance Friday of a voluntary racial integration program for the church.

The 900 delegates approved the proposal by an overwhelming margin. It calls for merger of white and Negro church subdivisions on a strictly voluntary basis.

In effect, the church's all-Negro central jurisdiction, embracing some 375,000 Negroes, would be eliminated.

AUSIE IMPORTS — Australia imports goods worth $450,000,000 from developing countries, with more than 70 per cent of the imports entering duty free.

Joan

Lady Nancy

Soon will become a bride. Mary A. Groom, 24, of Mashpee and William H. Reed, 25, of Felton, Del., filed marriage intentions Thursday.

WASHINGTON — The state department announced Friday the appointment of Chester C. Carter, a Negro of Los Angeles, as deputy chief of protocol.

SOUTHAMPTON, England — Mrs. Pam Tipper had a dream last night that she was running madly, barefoot and with a coat over her pyjamas. She woke up and discovered she was running madly, barefoot and with a coat over her pyjamas outside her house which had caught fire.

LONDON — Kenneth Archibald, 54, was arraigned Friday on a charge of murder in the death of Irene Lockwood, whose nude body was found April 8 on the bank of the Thames in West London.

FLORENCE, S.C. — A federal grand jury quickly indicted Joseph Francis Bryan Jr. Friday on a charge of kidnapping a 10-year-old South Carolina boy whose skeleton was found in a Florida swamp in March. Bryan also is accused of abducting seven-year-old Lewis Wilson whose skeleton was found Thursday in a rattlesnake-infested Florida field.

WASHINGTON — The Warren Commission investigating the assassination of President Kennedy will take testimony from his widow, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, before closing its hearings, a spokesman said Friday.

BARNSTABLE, Mass. — Ralph Donopane, 63, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and explained:

"I had to go 80 because the police cruiser in front of me wouldn't slow down to let me pass him at 60." He was fined $20.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Wanted for a 1956 murder in Montreal, William J. Callahan, 30, turned himself in at FBI headquarters here Friday, saying his "conscience bothered" him.

BERLIN — A U.S. spokesman here said Friday Roy Jacobs, 25, a Detroit student, had been arrested last summer in East Berlin on undisclosed charges and sentenced to 18 months in prison. Another American, Jean Frederic Loba, 39, of Altadena, Calif., was released in East Berlin after serving 23 months for helping East Germans escape to the West.

CHICAGO — Negro comedian Nipps Fitchell, who made about $2,000,000 a year as a charity patient at Cook County Hospital.

NEWARK, N.J. — Pope Paul has granted dispensation allowing a married former Lutheran minister, Ernest Belk, father of two, to become a Roman Catholic priest.

Men Still Fight for Berths With Canada's Sealing Ships

By JAMES H. HUSSEY

Canada Press Correspondent

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) —

Whatever it was that moved old-time Newfoundland fishermen to seek jobs on sealing ships is still a driving force among the men who live along the province's rugged coastline.

Captains of the four ships that sailed this year to the Front—an area off the northeast coast—said they had a choice of several crews.

Capt. Leslie Windsor, a seal hunter of more than 30 years' experience at the icefields, said he received applications for berths on the Sir John Crobie as early as last summer and picked out his crew in November.

SEALERS

"I only needed 90 sealers and most of those I selected were with me last spring."

Capt. John Kean of the Algerine said, "I had over 300 applications but, besides her regular crew, the Algerine can accommodate only 60 sealers."

Capt. Guy Earle of the Kyle and Capt. Stephen Dowden of the Terra Nova also had more than enough applications. Terra Nova sank March 21 with all aboard saved.

The four ships, including regular crew members, carry fewer than 300 men. Between 300 and 400 other Newfoundlanders also took part in the seal hunt in Nova Scotia ships.

The Newfoundland fleet is made up of the same four ships that went to the ice last year when the total catch was 44,102 pelts, a figure that didn't even equal the record of a single old-time Newfoundland sealer.

The largest number of seals brought in by any one ship on one trip came to port on the Floriel under command of Abram Kean in 1910. She had aboard 49,069 seal pelts weighing a little more than 1,000 tons.

BEGAN DECLINE

The Newfoundland seal hunt began to decline about a century ago. Greatest recorded catch was 686,000 pelts in 1831. By 1911 it had dwindled to about 300,000. It continued to fall, although in 1930 the catch had a net value of $400,000 and 2,300 sealers were employed.

But one record was set last year. The Algerine's crew made $540 each for their six-week voyage. Capt. Kean attributes the great interest in going to the ice this year to the fact "the Algerine's crew made a good kill last season."

Capt. Windsor adds that "men will go the seal hunt because of tradition."

"It's in their blood. After a bad spring at the ice many say they will never go again but they always come back. Some even give up jobs on shore to go seal hunting."

Conditions under which present-day sealers work are far different from those of the past. An old-time sealing ship of less than 500 tons often carried close to 300 seals.

Today the Kyle is capable of carrying 850 tons of coal alone, yet it has 100 men on board. The same situation applies to the 2,000-ton Sir John Crobie.

There is also some insurance against failure to complete the seal hunt. Sealers, who pay a small premium when signing on as crew members, receive a wage of $5 a day in the event of a ship losing a propeller or sustaining other damage that would prevent working the seal herds.

Needed in England

First War Bomb Blast Made Him Chiropractor

LONDON (CP)—Dr. Arthur G. Scofield's dedication to the practice of chiropractic dates from when he was shipped back to Canada after being wounded in France in 1916.

He had been buried alive in a bomb explosion and after 10 months in a Winnipeg hospital the verdict was that he would be a "100 per cent pensioner" for life.

But a chiropractor, hearing about his case, invited Scofield to move into his house and receive treatment. Eventually he was back to normal and from then on he devoted himself to the study and propagation of the art that is well established in North America but comparatively unknown in Britain.

Scofield, 63, is a native of Plumstead, England, who went to Canada shortly before the First World War but returned here in the 1930s on family business and was induced to stay.

"I stayed on in England because I treated an invalid girl at her Canadian parents' request," says Scofield. "The news of this treatment spread rapidly and I was inundated with requests for treatment. I had to stay—the need here is much greater."

The doctor, who graduated from the American University of Chiropractic in Chicago and Palmer College, Iowa, still makes a visit every two years to Canada and to Palmer to keep up with the latest techniques.

His first practice was in Winnipeg but in 1926 he expanded into a circuit based in Foxwarren, Man., and extending as far north as Kenora, Sask. He moved to Birtle, Man., before coming to England.

Scofield now treats about 40 patients a day at his Sudbury, Suffolk, clinic and supervises clinics in Ipswich and Chelmsford operated by Canadians who come over for a period to get experience "in the field."

FUND DRIVE
He and his followers recently embarked on a fund-raising campaign to provide free treatment for the needy, to build more clinics and, eventually, establish a college of chiropractic in Britain.

"This country has only one recognized chiropractor per 1,000,000 population while in America it is the second largest branch of the healing profession," he says.

Chiropractic treatment in Britain is not covered under the National Health Service.

Scofield is planning another trip to Canada in July and will visit Toronto and Manitoba before going on to Palmer College for a study session.

HALIFAX (CP)—During four years on the aircraft carrier Bonaventure, Chief Petty Officer James Kitchen saw three aircraft nearly slip over the side.

All three had failed to make contact with the arrestor gear while making night landings, and they had not received the "bolt" signal in time to allow them to take off again.

IMMEDIATE
CPO Kitchen, 36, decided to design an automatic signal that would immediately inform the flight commander whether the aircraft had made contact with the arrestor.

His device now is in service and the Halifax sailor has received a cash award for the idea from the Public Service of Canada.

Kitchen, now serving aboard the frigate Lanark, says of his device:

"It's only an indication light. When the Tracker's hook makes contact with the arrestor gear a light automatically flashes so the flight commander can see. If the light doesn't flash he can immediately give word to the pilot to bolt his aircraft and bring it in for a second landing."

Phantom For Britain May Spell End For Plane Builders

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — The unhappy feature of buying highly sophisticated and expensive weapons from the United States is the lack of reciprocity.

This depressing sentiment is all the more apparent in the British aircraft industry now that the government is going ahead with purchase of the U.S. Phantom to succeed the British Sea Vixen in the Royal Navy.

For the army, Britain is buying Agusta-Bell 47 helicopters, built in Italy under U.S. licence. The U.S. is buying nothing in the way of aircraft from Britain.

A redeeming factor is that the British version of the Phantom will have British engines, Rolls-

Temporary Stopgaps

Since the war Britain has often imported military aircraft and missiles from America, but all of these have been temporary stopgaps which have been followed by superior, or at least equal, British-built machines. Now, however, there is no evidence that we can produce an aircraft that will be a real improvement on the Phantom.

Canada also has bought many aircraft from the U.S. and in recent years has sold only one, the Caribou, in return. But Canada is seen here as in a much happier position than Britain because the U.S. has undertaken to match dollar for dollar of defence purchases with its northern neighbor.

It is not only the one-way nature of U.S.-British defence traffic that causes concern but also the high-pressure tactics of American aircraft-makers on the world market.

The most spectacular example occurred in the case of

Enormous Expense

For a different sort of comparison, it has been estimated that Britain will be able to buy six or more of the mass-produced Phantoms for the cost of one TSR-2.

In a nutshell, the industry is seen as better off now in terms of capacity but worse off for orders than it was three years ago when it was reorganized from a large number of independent companies into two big outfits—British Aircraft Corporation and Hawker-Siddeley.

Government Stalling

But beyond that the future looks bleak—and experts stress that five years is regarded as a brief period in the industry. Government delay in reaching decisions is given as one important reason for lost exports, particularly in the case of the P-1154 supersonic fighter, a design in which the British held a wide lead several years ago.

"If the government had announced its decision to go ahead two years ago rather than a few weeks ago, we would have led the world," said an official. "As it is, the U.S., West Germany and France have been fast catching up."

The government in turn is haunted by the memory of £230,000,000 ($690,000,000) that Royce Speys, reflecting the esteem in which that sector of the industry is held.

But some veteran observers are wondering whether the British airframe industry—as distinct from the engine-making side—has a future.

The Sunday Times air correspondent says the implications of the Phantom decision are that the industry's future in military aviation "may well consist almost entirely of building other people's aircraft under licence."

the British TSR-2, due to make its first flight any day now and generally conceded to be the most versatile war plane of the nuclear age.

Virtually a manned missile, the TSR-2 is designed for tactical or strategic operations, skimming the ground to elude radar detection and using bases no bigger than a rugby field. Yet because of competition from the less advanced TFX being developed by the U.S., the TSR-2 has found no buyers outside the home market—and the U.S. certainly isn't interested.

That means the whole development cost of £500,000,000 ($1,500,000,000) will fall on Britain alone and each plane will cost £2,500,000.

"Our aircraft, then, will come out in small numbers at enormous cost, while the TFX will come out in thousands, much cheaper," said one authority. "How can we keep the industry airborne that way?"

went down the drain in some 20 cancelled defence projects in the last 10 years. It has been cautious about undertaking new projects without certainty of success and without the encouragement of export markets.

On a purely economic basis, some experts say it does not make sense for Britain to produce expensive military aircraft unless it can export. But many factors are involved, including national prestige, the danger of adding to the "brain drain" to the U.S., and the development of advanced technology with a bearing on the commercial field.

"We must not give up," said one official. "These things can't be measured in pounds or dollars."

'Middle of Road Not Enough'

NANAIMO — Recreation Minister Kiernan's middle-of-the-road, multiple use philosophy for B.C.'s natural resources was strongly criticized yesterday by one of Canada's leading scientists.

Peter Larkin, director of the Nanaimo station of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, told the fish and game clubs convention: "The middle of the road is not good enough for us, particularly when we don't know where the road is leading."

Dr. Larkin rapped delegates for their lack of fire.

He said that, as he listened to president Ken Hodgson's report about "the quiet voice of reason of the federation" and "moderation to approach of our problems," he couldn't help but think the federation has got so respectable it has become dull.

"Let's have lots of fire and not too much of this voice of reason," he urged.

Dr. Larkin said immense studies have been made for knitting a strong force for conservation in B.C., but there is a much longer way to go. "Be reasonable, don't be irresponsible, but keep an eye on your objectives. We must pass a better balance to the next generation."

Multiple Usage Rapped

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Colonist Outdoors Editor

NANAIMO — Once parks are used for something other than recreation, the wilderness area idea is "gone forever," a U.S. economist warned the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs' convention yesterday.

Urging that there be no rush into multiple use, Dr. James Crutchfield of the University of Washington said: "By the very nature of the wilderness area concept, once you have gone the multiple use route, it is gone forever."

AFTER KIERNAN

Dr. Crutchfield spoke a day after Recreation Minister Kiernan outlined the B.C. multiple use philosophy.

He urged Canadians to start analyzing the economic benefits of outdoor recreation now. "Someone really needs to take a good economic look at the cost of becoming bigger," said Dr. Crutchfield.

"Take a serious look at whether we really want the population to grow at a maximum rate. I am not at all sure it is desirable and from a wild-life view it isn't."

JUSTIFY RESOURCES

"If we are to expand outdoor recreation we have to be able to justify that these resources turn out more for us than they would in any other way," he said.

"There is nothing to fear and everything to gain from efforts to measure accurately and honestly the economic benefits of outdoor recreation. The growing amount of leisure time make recreation uses of land and water precious."

SURVEY PEOPLE

Find out how many people use resources intensively and how much they would pay rather than do without, urged Dr. Crutchfield.

LAND, WATER USE

The American went on: "The welfare of outdoor recreation is completely bound up in a set of decisions on land and water use that are increasingly going to be settled on long-term multiple use purposes. We must get our facts on the table and get them accepted at the time basic plans are being considered."

"If you go before the appropriate planning agency you must show the general public will get more out of that use than out of any other use."

Forty-two traffic victims were among those treated.

Of the emergency patients treated, 156 were admitted to the hospital for further treatment and 1,109 were treated and sent home. Figures showed that 798 required surgical treatment and 467 medical treatment.

High Court Order:

'Stop Making Faces At Your Neighbor'

LONDON (AP)—The British High Court solemnly ordered Charles R. Stonor to quit making faces at his neighbor, Ingram Poole.

An injunction signed by Justice Sir John Pennycuik Friday also directed Stonor to cease and desist forthwith from:

"Whooping, dancing, shouting, raving, mocking, jeering, gesturing, hussing, cat-calling and making glibbling noises at Poole, members of his household, visitors, servants and agents."

The order further restrained Stonor from "otherwise causing distress to such persons, and affixing notices and writing upon or flashing lights upon Mr. Poole's property."

Stonor also consented to paying Poole £300 damages for wear and tear on his nerves.

No explanation was offered for the bad neighbor policy.

Justice Pennycuik assessed Stonor £600 in court costs.

Go-Easy Plea Dropped

The provincial cabinet has given up asking B.C. school boards to refrain from seeking capital spending referendums.

For the last two years every order-in-council which approved such a plebiscite included an appeal for trustees elsewhere not to seek such votes "except in cases of extreme urgency."

The reason always given was "excessive current interest rates."

But the appeal was missing from two orders Friday which approved plebiscites for $768,500 in borrowing authority for the Gulf Islands and Birch Island school district.

TWO-YEAR RITUAL

Education Minister Peterson said last month, when the order was attached to a similar order approving a vote in Vanderhoof school district, the appeal had gone on all such orders "for about two years."

He acknowledged the original problem of "tight money" was no longer current and suggested the ritual might be discontinued.

Friday's two orders approved referendums for $476,432 in the Gulf Islands and $292,045 in Birch Island district. The money will be spent on school construction, furnishing and sites.

Control Failure Caused Blast

OTTAWA (CP) — Failure of safety controls in a heating unit of a boiler caused the natural gas explosion that wrecked the $1,000,000 Juvenile and Family Court Building in Ottawa last October. A report released Friday by the Ontario fire marshal fixed no blame for the explosion and Crown Attorney John Cassella said there is not enough evidence to lay any charges.

More cases were treated by the St. Joseph's Hospital emergency department in April than in either the previous month or April of last year.

The hospital announced yesterday that 1,265 patients were treated in April, 93 more than in March and 23 more than in April, 1963.

Forty-two traffic victims were among those treated.

Of the emergency patients treated, 156 were admitted to the hospital for further treatment and 1,109 were treated and sent home. Figures showed that 798 required surgical treatment and 467 medical treatment.

Garden Notes

'Mrs. Miniver' Show

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRES

To those newcomers who have come to live in our garden paradise from parts of the country with harsher climates, and who are having some difficulty in finding out what, where and how to plant under our conditions, my advice is to get out and visit some of our excellent flower shows. The smaller district shows in particular are homey, neighborly affairs, not too crowded, and there are always knowledgeable gardeners around, ready and willing to strut their stuff and answer questions.

One of these is scheduled for today, in fact. This is the annual Cadboro Bay flower show staged in the new St. George's Parish Hall, and I understand this is the 19th successive year this spring show has been staged.

I am told there will be some changes this year. For one thing, the floral exhibits will be in the auditorium of the fine new hall, while tea will be served from 2 to 5 p.m. in warm comfort of the lower hall. The big tent, which has housed some rather chilly tea sessions in past years, will be used for the plant stall, in which the husbands of the St. George's Guild members will sell plants and tubs, bird feeders, trugs, garden equipment and small items of garden furniture. There is also a sale of surplus perennial roots and rooted cuttings of named chrysanthemums, all going at bargain counter prices.

The flower show proper will be open from 2 to 9 p.m., but the plant stall in the marquee will be open for business at 10 o'clock this morning. Admission to the hall is 75 cents, which includes tea; after 5 p.m., 25 cents, while admission to the plant stall is the marquee is for free.

Should the blossoms be picked off newly planted strawberries? The garden books are quite specific on this point. Plants set out this spring should have ALL the blossoms taken off this summer. Plants set out in late September should have the first flush of blossoms taken off, but may be permitted to make a small late crop. Only plants which have been established since last August or earlier can be permitted to bear a full crop.

That is what the book says. Personally, when I first took a crack at growing strawberries, I spent arduous and uncomfortable hours crawling around the beds on my hands and knees snipping off blossoms with my wife's manicure scissors, following the book in all particulars.

Later, as I grew older—and lazier—it seemed a bit ridiculous to go to all this trouble just to frustrate the efforts of a little strawberry plant which was only trying to make fruit for my table. I said "The heck with it" and quit de-blossoming, and I must say I haven't noticed the slightest ill effect. The first berries picked from the new plants are perhaps a little on the small side, but they make good eating, and the later fruits are just as big and just as plentiful as on de-blossomed plants.

ART BUCHWALD Reports a Deb Party

Kids Enjoy Clean Fun

WASHINGTON—There was a time when debutante parties used to be covered by society editors, but now they have to be covered by police reporters.

Following the famous Wanamaker party on Long Island last summer, eight young blue bloods were just found guilty of wrecking a cottage in Towson, Maryland, a suburb of Baltimore.

The party after the Maryland Hunt Ball caused $1,800 in damage as compared to the $6,000 damage in Southampton, which proves that the Long Island set still gives the better parties.

If the trend continues, this is how a debutante party story will read on the society pages: "Miss Mary Jane Merryweather made her debut at the Piping Hot Country Club last night with 1,200 guests in attendance. Following a supper dance given by her parents, the party moved over to the rented home of Mr. Chauncey Hogglesworth, where the young socialites enjoyed themselves until dawn.

"Among the guests were Miss Hilary Weepingwillow, wearing a Christian Dior gown, and her escort, Robert Goosepimple III. Mr. Goosepimple, a four-letter man at Harvard, gave a demonstration of his prowess by swinging from a chandelier 14 times across the room before it broke.

"George 'Laddie' Goldstuff, Jr., scion to a pillow-making fortune, and his lovely partner, Hilda Mayberry, climbed the drape to get a better view of the party. They were joined by Edward Trojan and 'Sissy' Carpenter of Bryn Mawr. Punch was served up to the two couples from a rare Baccarat vase that had been in the Hogglesworth family for over a hundred years.

"A great deal of laughter ensued when Mr. Goldstuff threw the vase out of the window after drinking the punch. What made the incident most amusing was that the window was closed.

"Dancing on the fireplace mantel were Rodney Ruggles and Jeannie Wimple, of the breadcrumb Wimples. While twisting, Jeannie lost her balance, but was saved from falling by grabbing a Cezanne painting which was hanging over the mantel. The painting was irreparably damaged, but thanks to Jeannie's quick thinking she wasn't.

"As the party went on, it became more exciting. A touch football game was started in the dining room and in place of a football the players used Mr. Hogglesworth's Wedgwood plates. Every time someone missed a pass the spectators cheered. The game lasted until there were no plates left.

"While many couples were enjoying themselves on the ground floor, a group of merry-makers went upstairs and started throwing furniture out the window. Shouts of glee could be heard from the upper floors as the furniture crashed to the ground.

"Then someone remembered that it was time for breakfast, so a fire was built in the lib-

SHEILAH GRAHAM Reports

Eddie Fisher Settles Down

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Eddie Fisher has bought a house in Beverly Hills where he plans to settle and leave the rest of the world to Liz, Dick and Sybil. . . Eddie is going into the film producing business, teaming off with Paint Your Wagon, and his after Jimmy Cagney for the lead. Well, just as long as Eddie sticks to producing that will be fine. His acting attempts—first with Debbie Reynolds in a musical, then with Miss Taylor in Butterfield 8 were dreadful.

Shirley MacLaine is challenging Carroll Baker for the number one sexpot title in Hollywood. In her new movie, John Goldfarb, Please Come Home, she spends most of her time jumping in and out of bed with co-star Richard Crenna who plays a Jewish U-2 pilot who crashlands in Arabia. Peter Ustinov is the King of Arabia so you can see this is a comedy.

Romy Schneider starting in Hell in Paris, is getting just that from the swarms of paparazzi who have descended on the French capital from Rome to Rome. The pretty star has to have police protection to and from the studio every day.

It will take Max Schell two months to tape his seven-hour television special, The Satin Slipper. It hasn't yet been decided whether to show it in separate segments, or take a whole Sunday. Have you ever heard anything like that? Not even Shakespeare or a Eugene O'Neill play has ever lasted for seven hours.

Now that Sean Connery is starring over in London in Goldfinger, I can tell you that he very nearly didn't star in his last picture, Marnie in Hollywood. Before accepting the role in the Alfred Hitchcock production, Sean said firmly, "I must see the script." He was told just as firmly, "not even Cary Grant asks to see the script of a Hitchcock film." "But I'm not Cary Grant," said Sean pleasantly. They showed him the script, and as you know he signed.

The New York critics didn't exactly rave about The Pink Panther. Personally I enjoyed the film which stars Peter Sellers, Capucine, David Niven and Claudiu Cardinale. It's confusing, but very funny. And it would be funnier if they chopped to the bone the love scene with Niven and Claudia on that tiger rug. It was too long and too dull.

Laurence Harvey will play a psychiatrist in his next movie, The Couch and I. Ann-Margaret will be a patient—she's a stripper with problems. And the more she strips, the more the psychiatrist needs help.

Tony Martin and wife Cyd Charisse are planning a TV series based on the movie musical The Barkleys of Broadway. If you remember, Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire were the stars in the film.

Simone Signoret plays the older woman in love with the young man, Alain Delon, in the Tony Richardson film production of Cheri, from the Colette Novel. Before Cheri, Delon has three films to make—his current, Yellow Rolls Royce, then Scratch a Thief and Man on Horseback.

Girl Cut Up Over Boy

A 13-year-old girl who complained to police of being assaulted by another 13-year-old girl was able to show a cut lip as evidence of the assault. Another 13-year-old girl admitted the assault when questioned by police, but it turned out the cause was one of the oldest in history—an argument over a boy friend.

Civil Rights Marchers Split, Make Police Spread Ranks

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—About 150 Negroes and whites, forcing police to react to fast-changing tactics, resumed civil rights demonstrations Friday in what was described as an "explosive" racial atmosphere.

There were several incidents but no major violence as the demonstrators formed four groups and attempted without success to enter several downtown segregated restaurants, which they later picketed.

YOUTH BEATEN
At one restaurant, a Negro demonstrator was shoved to the ground when he tried to enter. The same youth was later beaten on a sidewalk by an unidentified white youth who fled.

The pickets held a sign to the restaurant window that read: "Jesus would break bread with us." A white youth stepped out, grabbed the sign, took it inside and ripped it.

The demonstrators, giving an advance word of their plans, forced police to spread ranks through the downtown area when they broke into groups. The groups also took alternate routes when marching, and kept police guessing as to where they were headed.

In Chattanooga, Tenn., the governor's commission on human relations met and said demonstrations here had brought on "explosive conditions." The biracial groups said civil rights inequities should not be corrected "by resorting to lawlessness and violence." The commission apparently referred to demonstrations which touched off violence here. Twenty-five persons, including seven policemen, have been injured and 100 arrests made.

Variety Show Aids Building
A variety show in aid of the building fund for the Saanich Exhibition Grounds will be presented by the 4-H Club section of the Lower Vancouver Island Coast Breeders' Association, in Royal Oak High School, at 8 p.m. today.

Performing will be Reg Stofor, Alex Stewart, Mary Grant, Carl and Lottie Hermon and the University Three.

Former Victorian Wins Fellowship in Meat

A former Victoria resident, Terence F. Leche, has been awarded a research fellowship in meat technology at the University of Sydney in Australia.

Mr. Leche, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson Leche of North Vancouver, will leave Vancouver late this summer to take up his fellowship of $3,500 a year for three years.

He received his Bachelor of Science in Agriculture degree from the University of B.C. in 1961 and will receive his Master of Science in Agriculture degree at UBC's spring congregation.

For the past two years, he has studied the growth and development of cattle, under direction of Prof. Alex Wood in UBC's department of animal science.

Concert Set For Tonight
The Meistersingers of Victoria, with soloist Marjorie Sturgeon will present a concert at the Edward church hall, Arbutus Road, at 8:15 p.m. today.

The program, sponsored by the Cadboro Bay United Church choir, will include sacred, Western, Calypso, barbershop, modern music and songs from musical shows.

Trip Too Much For U.S. Bees
ABERDEEN, Scotland (UPI)—A 5,000-mile air journey from Navasota, Tex., proved too much for 750,000 bees sent to replenish stocks of Aberdeen bee keepers.

A third of the bees were dead on arrival Friday and the remainder were in very poor condition possibly because of lack of ventilation or lack of food on the journey, according to one buyer.

Five-Year Term Given Meeker

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—James Lennard Meeker, described by the judge as "dangerous and evil," Friday night was convicted on a reduced charge of indecent assault of a 6-year-old grandmother.

Mr. Justice T. W. Brown gave Meeker five years, the maximum penalty under the reduced charge, and ordered that the term be served in addition to a 10-year prison sentence Meeker is to serve for carnal knowledge of 12-year-old Alice Mathers of Mission, B.C.

Meeker, a farmhand, had been charged with raping the mother of five at a spot near Langley at which the Mathers girl was murdered after being repeatedly assaulted last June.

Meeker's younger brother, Kenneth was convicted of capital murder in the girl's death and sentenced to be hanged. He is appealing to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Justice Brown said he would not impose a concurrent sentence on Meeker, although "it has become the judicial fashion of late years," because the "sake of humanity and the hope of rehabilitation" in this case did not apply.

"The evidence shows that you are dangerous and evil," he added.

By AP, UPI

A major U.S. buildup of troops and planes on the Florida coastline was reported Friday as the most ominous of several developments which could bring a new explosion in the simmering Cuban crisis.

It was May Day and the two main Communists involved in the Cuban problem waved the Red flag with threatening statements.

● Nikita Khrushchev warned in Moscow that continued U.S. threats to Cuba and violations of its air space by reconnaissance flights "can have disastrous consequences."

● Fidel Castro warned in Havana he will use Soviet rockets to shoot down U.S. planes over Cuba if negotiations fail to end such flights.

NO UNDERSTANDING

Khrushchev denied any understanding with the U.S. about the U-2 flights and said U.S. actions could "draw the world into the abyss of another world war and inflict serious harm" to its people.

He made clear Russia supports all five Cuban conditions

U.S. CARRIER SUNK

SAIGON (AP) — Communist terrorists sank a U.S. aircraft transport in Saigon harbor today.

All 73 men of the civilian crew were reported safe.

First Sinking

It was the first time a major U.S. vessel had been sunk in the battle against Viet Cong guerrillas.

The Card had taken on a cargo of old helicopters for return to the United States and had been scheduled to sail later today.

The explosion occurred at 5 a.m. Saigon time and the ship began sinking almost immediately.

Settles in River

The ship settled onto the muddy bottom of the 49-foot-deep Saigon River with its flight deck and superstructure above water.

Civilian Capt. Borge Langeland, 55, of New Orleans, said there was a possibility the ship would capsize.

Rare Crabs End Trip Too Soon

PARIS (Reuters) — Six giant crabs of a rare species being flown from Alaska to aquariums in London, Manchester and Hamburg were eaten by error.

Paris airport authorities said Friday by "regrettable negligence" the chef preparing meals for the airport restaurant was not informed that the crabs had been deposited in the cold room only to await transit connections.

Sukarno Ready To Act

JAKARTA (UPI) — Indonesian President Sukarno said Friday he will deliver a "command of action" Sunday to 1,000,000 volunteers who have vowed to help him crush Malaysia.

In Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, Prime Minister Tunko Abdul Rahman cut short his vacation and announced that a new cabinet would be sworn in today, three days ahead of schedule. Rahman's alliance party, pledged to a program of opposition to Indonesia, won a landslide election victory last Sunday.

The president gave no details of the order, but observers said it probably would call for stepped up action by Indonesian guerrillas in the jungles of Borneo where Indonesia and Malaysia share a common border.

Banks Guilty, Held in Cell

MONTREAL (CP) — Hal C. Banks, former president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.), was convicted Friday on a charge of conspiring to assault a rival union official seven years ago.

The burly, 56-year-old accused showed no emotion on hearing the verdict at the end of a 56-page judgment which took Judge Claude Wagner two hours and 20 minutes to read to a packed court. However, tears came to his eyes as he was being taken to cells.

BAIL CANCELLED

Banks' $2,000 bail was cancelled and he was ordered held in Bordeaux Jail until sentencing Tuesday, when defence counsel Joseph Cohen said an appeal will be filed and application for bail will be made.

Banks was charged with conspiracy to assault Capt. Henry Walsh with intent to wound, maim or disfigure. The organizer for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild (CLC) was beaten up Aug. 18, 1957, in a darkened hotel parking lot in Owen Sound, Ont.

CO-CONSPIRATORS

Paul Carsh and Jack Richardson of Montreal and Jack Casper of Sacramento, Calif., were named as co-conspirators in the charge, which carries a 14-year maximum sentence.

In his judgment, Judge Wagner said:

Borrowed Name

'Doctor' Really Wasn't

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons disclosed Friday that a man who practised medicine for two years at Brant Memorial Hospital in Burlington, near Hamilton, was an impostor.

The identity of the man is unknown, but he practised with credentials in the name of Dr. Andre Couture. His papers showed him to be a graduate of Laval University medical school and he had a "limited licence" to practise from the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

His documents are believed to be forgeries.

The man left the hospital in January to enter private practice in the nearby village of Kilbride, but left later with his wife and two young children.

The man came under suspicion when someone — not on the staff of the hospital — questioned his competence.

The only Dr. Andre Couture listed in the Canadian Medical Directory graduated from Laval in 1956 and now practises in Chicoutimi, Que. He said he had never been in Ontario and "as far as I know I haven't lost or had any credentials stolen."

Botanical Beach to Become B.C. Park

By TERRY HAMMOND

Colonist Legislative Reporter

Botanical Beach is over and the world famous marine life

park with public access. Recreation Minister

into front page headlines

Wednesday when Colonist

Outdoors Editor Alec Merriman disclosed that the area was being closed to the public

surrounding land.

Thursday evening the private owner, logger Rudolph Witschl of Cefir Forest Products Ltd., sought out Mr.

Kiernan and offered the province a gift of 20 acres fronting the beach and the use of a private road for public access.

Earlier Mr. Kiernan had asked for a two-week cooling-off period in the beach hassle as a prelude to a meeting with Mr. Witschl to discuss proposals for park development and access. Nature lovers and sportsmen were up in arms at the threatened loss of access to the beach and marine scientists were upset over the effects of creating a booming ground adjacent to it.

Mr. Kiernan said yesterday the Cefir booming ground is designed with a breakwater separating it from Botanical marine life at the beach.

Initially, said the minister, there will be controlled access along Mr. Witschl's $40,000 logging road and group

Battle Outcome Example to Others

Colonist Outdoors Editor Alec Merriman, who brought the Botanical Beach situation to the public's attention, said yesterday he was pleased with the outcome of events.

Informed of the peaceful settlement, Mr. Merriman—attending a B.C. Federation of Fish and Game conference at Nanaimo—said:

"I am delighted that Mr. Witschl has made a magnanimous offer which could well set an example to other private logging operators.

"He was quite within his rights as private owner of the property and it is certainly gratifying to see that a new Canadian has recognized the moral feature of the issue," said Mr. Merriman.

He said he hopes people will continue to enjoy Botanical Beach and that they will be "doubly sure to respect any logging equipment or property of the owners."

Multiple Usage Threat to Parks

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Colonist Outdoors Editor

NANAIMO—Once parks are used for something other than recreation, the wilderness area idea is "gone forever," a U.S. economist warned the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs' convention yesterday.

Urging that there be no rush into multiple use, Dr. James Crutchfield of the University of Washington said: "By the very nature of the wilderness area concept, once you have gone the multiple use route, it is gone forever."

AFTER KIERMAN

Dr. Crutchfield spoke a day after Recreation Minister Kierman outlined the B.C. multiple use philosophy.

He urged Canadians to start analyzing the economic benefits of outdoor recreation now. "Someone really needs to take a good economic look at the cost of becoming bigger," said Dr. Crutchfield.

"Take a serious look at whether we really want the population to grow at a maximum rate. I am not at all sure it is desirable and from a wild-life view it isn't."

JUSTIFY RESOURCES

"If we are to expand outdoor recreation we have to be able to justify that these resources turn out more for us than they would in any other way," he said.

"There is nothing to fear and everything to gain from efforts to measure accurately and honestly the economic benefits of outdoor recreation. The growing amount of leisure time make recreation uses of land and water precious."

SURVEY PEOPLE

LAND, WATER USE

The American went on: "The welfare of outdoor recreation is completely bound up in a set of decisions on land and water use that are increasingly going to be settled on long-term multiple use purposes. We must get our facts on the table and get them accepted at the time basic plans are being considered. "If you go before the appropriate planning agency you must show the general public will get more out of that use than out of any other use."

Tidal Wave Report Due Next Week

The report of independent appraisers named by the provincial government to survey tidal wave damage along the west Island coast is expected to go to the cabinet next week, it was learned yesterday.

The survey has been delayed because the appraisers found damage had not been reported fully in Tofino and several other areas.

Too Many Need Aid

Mental Clinic Facing Big Problem

By LYNNE WALLER

NANAIMO—The four-member staff of the new mental health clinic here "cannot possibly dream" of treating all the mentally ill of Vancouver Island from Cobble Hill north, says director Dr. Sven Jensen.

The psychiatrist was explaining the reason for the decision to screen patients through referrals from family doctors.

URGENT CASES FIRST
Dr. Jensen said screening is the only remedy to the problem facing the Vancouver Island Mental Health Clinic at its inception, and will allow the staff to treat those whose need is most urgent.

Dr. Jensen has been at work for several weeks by himself while awaiting a psychologist, a psychiatric social worker and a psychiatric nurse.

PIONEERING VENTURE
He described the clinic as a "very significant pioneering venture in the field of mental health" because all ages of people with all types of mental illness can be provided with everything necessary for treatment.

The mentally ill can receive the benefit of day care, said Dr. Jensen. "where they will spend the day only in an environment provided by the clinic to help restore their emotional balance."

Weekly appointments are also available to those requiring help.

ERA NEARING END
Dr. Jensen, who received his degree in medicine at Copenhagen University and specialized in psychiatry at Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster, said the era of "custodial care" in mental asylums is coming to an end.

He said they began as places to put "somebody nobody knew what to do about. They are not suited for the purpose of treatment."

LIKE MOTELS
"Mental hospitals have become more like a motel where patients get room and board and treatment. This clinic has the facilities that before now, people would have to go to Esquimalt to get as the only psychiatric staff was there. Crease Clinic has become a motel, anyway."

Dr. Jensen complimented the "progressiveness" of Gordon Frith, administrator of Nanaimo Regional General Hospital, for providing 10 beds in the hospital for those who need 24-hour care and regular treatment to lead them to recovery.

LIKE BROKEN LEG
He said this shows a realization that insanity is an illness "like gall bladder or a broken leg."

Dr. Jensen and his staff will travel to Duncan, Courtenay and Port Alberni once every three weeks to see referrals.

Air Force Plans Annual Party

Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island will hold its annual spring party in the former Officers' Mess, RCAF Building, 1212 Quadra, 6:30 p.m.

'Middle of Road Not Good Enough'

NANAIMO — Recreation Minister Kierman said yesterday by one of Canada's leading scientists.

Peter Larkin, director of the Nanaimo station of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, told the fish and game clubs convention: "The middle of the road is not good enough for us, particularly when we don't know where the road is leading."

Dr. Larkin rapped delegates for their lack of fire.

He said that, as he listened to president Ken Hodgson's report about "the quiet voice of reason of the federation" and "moderation to approach of our problems," he couldn't help but think the federation has got so respectable it has become dull.

"Let's have lots of fire and not too much of this voice of reason," he urged.

Dr. Larkin said immense studies have been made for knitting a strong force for conservation in B.C., but there is a much longer way to go. "Be reasonable, don't be irresponsible, but keep an eye on your objectives. We must pass a better balance to the next generation."

Larkin

Aim of New Tax Curb

Municipalities Place For New Industries

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said Friday two sections of a new act amending the Municipal Act will be proclaimed despite protests by several municipalities.

The sections impose a 10-mill limit on the right of municipalities to tax land and tenant fixtures and business machinery.

Mr. Campbell said the two sections will be proclaimed "immediately," but they will not affect 1964 municipal taxes.

He made the announcement following a meeting with the mayors and reeves of five communities headed by Reeve Donald Morton of North Cowichan.

The municipal leaders argued the restriction would force them to increase mill rates on residential and commercial properties since in some cases they were already levying 15 mills on machinery and fixtures.

Mr. Campbell said, however, that no more than a dozen municipalities will be affected and none of them seriously.

INDUSTRY SHIFT

He said the law is designed to encourage industries to locate within municipal boundaries rather than in unorganized territory and to prevent unfair competition for industries among municipalities.

The delegation included the mayors of Port Alberni and Kitimat and the reeves of Burnaby and Powell River, as well as a number of civic officials from the five municipalities.

Go-Easy Plea Dropped

The provincial cabinet has given up asking B.C. school boards to refrain from seeking capital spending referendums.

For the last two years every order-in-council which approved such a plebiscite included an appeal for trustees elsewhere not to seek such votes "except in cases of extreme urgency."

The reason always given was "excessive current interest rates."

But the appeal was missing from two orders Friday which approved plebiscites for $768,500 in borrowing authority for the Gulf Islands and Birch Island school district.

TWO-YEAR RITUAL

Education Minister Peterson said last month, when the rider was attached to a similar order approving a vote in Vanderhoof school district, the appeal had gone on all such orders "for about two years."

He acknowledged the original problem of "tight money" was no longer current and suggested the ritual might be discontinued.

Friday's two orders approved referendums for $476,452 in the Gulf Islands and $292,045 in Birch Island district. The money will be spent on school construction, furnishing and sites.

'No Vacancy' for Chronics

Duncan Case Stresses Hospital Need

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — A welfare patient has been occupying an acute-patient bed in King's Daughters' Hospital for three months because no vacancy can be found in any nursing home in the whole of British Columbia.

Only one nursing home, at Cobble Hill, exists between Victoria and Nanaimo — all

Honorary Degree

Rector of the United churches at Ganges and Burgoyne Bay for the past four years, Rev. Dr. Norah Hughes will be awarded an honorary degree of doctor of divinity at the annual convocation of Union College in St. Andrew's Wesley United Church in Vancouver.

Dr. Hughes, president of the United Church B.C. conference last year, previously held pastorates in Victoria, North Surrey and four Interior centres.

other private institutions in that long stretch are boarding homes.

KEY ARGUMENTS
These striking facts were cited yesterday by Ken Noton, administrator of the new Cowichan district hospital, as key arguments in the case for a chronic-care hospital (nursing home) next to the $3,500,000 structure.

He said Duncan, North Cowichan and the Koksilah and Lake Cowichan hospital improvement districts all are strong in support for a nursing home when the big hospital is built later this year.

HOPE FOR APPROVAL
Later this month, hospital officials and representatives of the four areas will meet Health Minister Martin and Mr. Noton said "we are very hopeful we will get the minister's approval for this nursing home."

Government statistics show the nursing home should have 40 to 50 beds, he said, with the cost per bed compared to $6,000 and $7,000 compared to the price of $25,000 per acute bed.

A third of the cost of a chronic hospital would be paid by the provincial government.

NEED SHOWN
Mr. Noton said the great need for a non-profit nursing home is shown by the fact that private nursing homes are not obliged to accept welfare patients.

The proposed unit here would share with the new hospital such services as medical staff, physiotherapy, laundry, boiler room and library.

Plans for the new hospital are proceeding rapidly, said Mr. Noton. A meeting has been arranged with architects and consulting engineers May 8 and 9.

Navy Day Set For May 9

NANAIMO—Navy Day this year has been set for Saturday, May 9, the navy announced yesterday.

A full slate of activities will range from the visit of Canadian and U.S. warships to parades, dances and the annual Navy League Ball.

The Pacific Command frigate HMCS Stettler and the U.S. Pacific fleet troop transport Lenawee will be open at the CPR Jetty to visitors from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

In addition to her 360-man crew the Lenawee is carrying 30 sea cadets from Tacoma, who will be guests of their Nanaimo counterparts.

Both warships will be providing marching contingents for the Navy Day parade.

'Safecracking' Tools Stolen

Tools which could be used by safecrackers were taken from a construction site at the University of Victoria overnight Thursday.

Oral Vaccine Turnout Shows Gain

NANAIMO — More than 41 per cent of the 50,000 people in the Central Vancouver Island health unit received free Sabin oral polio vaccine April 13 to 15, unit director Dr. Gerald Bonham said yesterday.

He said he was "very pleased" with the turnout, which was well above the 34.6 per cent turnout last November. He added the vaccine will again be available in the fall.

The vaccine was administered in Nanaimo, Duncan, the Alberni, Ladysmith, Lake Cowichan, Parksville, Qualicum, Tofino and Ucluelet.

Chemical Plant

Conveyor System Saved from Blaze

NANAIMO—Hooker Chemical Co. crews and the Cedar volunteer fire department battled for more than an hour to quell a fire which threatened the conveyor system at the Hooker plant Friday morning.

Creoated bumper logs lying on shore ready to be installed at the new dock caught fire when heavy winds carried sparks from a nearby dump fire. Winds forced the blaze in the direction of the conveyor system but it was brought under control before the belt could catch fire.

Officials said damage was negligible.

Nanaimo's fire department was called out Friday afternoon to put out a fire in a dilapidated old building on CPR property next to West Coast Freight.

Officials said the blaze was probably started by vandals.

Fowl Deed

NANAIMO — A thief with a taste for pigeon pie made off with nine valuable racing pigeons owned by Thomas Jones of East Wellington Road. RCMP flew to the scene to investigate the fowl deed.

School Marks First Century

DUNCAN — St. Ann's School, opened Oct. 10, 1864, in the Cowichan Valley near here, will celebrate its 100th anniversary a little early with a mass of thanksgiving and a pageant May 11.

Bishop Remi De Roo of Victoria will be celebrant at the mass, in the school at 4:30 p.m. The pageant will begin in Quamichan School auditorium at 8 p.m.

BUILT LOG SCHOOL

Rev. Father Peter Rondeau, who spent his entire priestly life from 1858 to 1900 with the Cowichan peoples, built the first log school.

It was erected on pre-empted land secured by Mother Mary Providence of the Sisters of Saint Ann in 1863 for the education of girls of the Cowichan tribes.

The school now is a regular day institution serving the Duncan area. From 1904 to 1956, it was a residential school for boys.

The public, especially former students, is invited to the two centennial events.

The Richardsons of Alberni

In Alberni Tonight

Honors for Golden Jubilee

ALBERNI — Friends and relatives will gather at the Greenwood Hotel from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. today to honor Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, married here 50 years ago.

Actual date of the wedding of Mr. Richardson and the former Frances McNab was April 29, 1914.

Mr. Richardson came to Canada from his home in Maxton, Scotland, in 1909 and to Alberni in 1913. Miss McNab, born in Inverlathen, Scotland, arrived in Canada in 1912 and came to Alberni the following year.

Mr. Richardson worked on a survey crew during his first year in the valley; but in 1914 went to A. W. Neill's pioneer feed store where he remained for 17 years. In the days when he delivered flour and feed by team and wagon he knew everyone in the Twin Cities and the rural districts.

For 25 years he belonged to the cribbage league which flourished in the early days of the Twin Cities. He missed only three of the weekly meetings during the quarter century and recalls all the old timers who used to attend the sessions. Among them was A. L. Hanna, now Judge Hanna of Nanaimo. Most of the Richardsons' four children, nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren will be on hand tonight.

Island Courts

Gasoline Thieves Fined

ALBERNI — Terry Gary Laiselle, 17, raised to adult court and charged with theft of gasoline from Dolan's gravel pit, was fined $200 Friday by Magistrate W. E. MacLeod. Russell Rescoe Meyer and John Richard Brown were fined $150 each for the same case.

The magistrate warned Kennedy Lake worker Tara Singh Rai another offence will mean jail, after finding him a total of $150 for driving while under suspension and using another person's licence.

OTHER FINES

Other fines: Arthur J. C. Vale, 19, $50 and Robert Olebar, 18, $20 for being minors in possession of liquor; Aime Cardinal, Daryl Paul Watt, Gordon Charles Tivey and Charlie Sang, Jr., $25 each for speeding; Norman Grant McGregor, 25, failing to yield; Stanley Taylor, 15, operating a vehicle with undesignated plates, and Allan Mallory and Arthur McCreight, $10 each for failing to stop at stop signs.

DUNCAN — Two of four Duncan men appearing in magistrate's court Thursday on charges of consuming liquor in a public place were acquitted. Leonard Bergstrom and Kenneth W. Braulin were acquitted while Lloyd Bergstrom was fined $150 and Donald Olson was fined $75. Braulin pleaded guilty to driving while under suspension; sentence was a $50 fine and a one-year licence loss.

Other sentences: Francis Hill Coverdale, Duncan, impaired driving, 14 days; Robert J. Cousins, Victoria, $150; Ralph F. Kraft, Duncan, speeding, $75; Norman J. Strohbe, Duncan, consuming liquor in public, $50; Roy T. George, Nanaimo, driving under suspension, $42; Archibald Turner, Cowichan Station, failing to file income tax return, $25; Otto Renner, Duncan, crossing solid double line, $25, and Ronald A. Plumb, Duncan, $10, disobeying flashing red light.

NANAIMO — Alexander Tracey, 2375 Marlborough, was fined $225 in magistrate's court Friday after pleading guilty to impaired driving. Lawrence Moline, 471 Maple, was fined $20 for failing to yield the right of way.

PORT ALBERNI — Decision was reserved Friday on charges against Franz Pley of speeding and driving while his licence was under suspension. Ronald McShelrie was fined $200 after pleading guilty to impaired driving. Wayne Wiebe was fined $24 for speeding.

U.S. Band Here

A senior high school band from Ellensburg will give a concert today with their hosts, the Mount View High School band. Mount View High School auditorium, 8 p.m.

LADYAMITH — Lyle Hopps of Alberni was remanded yesterday for sentence after pleading guilty to careless driving. Court fines: Samuel Wright, Ladyamith, impaired driving, $100 and one-year licence suspension; James Squire, Crofton,

Major Fire Averted

ERRINGTON — A spot fire probably caused by a cigarette thrown away carelessly broke out in bushes along Errington Road Thursday afternoon, the day before the fire season became official. A major outbreak in the dry, windy area was prevented by the prompt alarm sounded by R. J. King and the response of the Parkville forest station suppression crew.

NANAIMO — Building is booming, says regional planning inspector Neil Hutchins. Building permits for April in the city and district totalled $282,676 compared to $135,123 last year. Mr. Hutchins gave most of the credit to the new federal scheme to boost home construction.

DUNCAN — The annual safety conference of the B.C. Loggers' Association will be held in the Legion Hall today from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The president of Hillcrest Lumber Co., Hector Stone, will address the 250 delegates.

LADYAMITH — Village commissioners have set a tax rate of 42.1 mills for this year, up 6.1 mills from 1963. Main increases in the $235,451 budget are 2.2 mills for schools, 2.1 mills for the hospital extension and 1.8 mills for general purposes.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Karen Geary, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Geary of Shelter Point, is getting better after a road accident growing out of a playmate's prank. The playmate chased Karen with a snake on the end of a stick and Karen ran onto the highway. She was hit by a pickup truck, suffering leg, collarbone and rib fractures.

NANAIMO — Three girls in Grade 11 are Nanaimo's nominees for the exchange visits to Quebec this summer sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. They are Susan McKenzie, 17, of 1046 Nelson; Merridie Murdoch, 16, of 757 Northumberland, and Glenys Lawrence, 15, of 411 McKay.

DUNCAN — Two unsuccessful burglary attempts are being investigated by RCMP. The first was at Sansum Motors early Thursday, the second at Stewart and Hudson Building Supplies on Duncan Street early yesterday. The latter was an attempt to crack a safe which is imbedded in concrete.

NELSON — Sharon Wenzel, a sophomore from Port Alberni, has been elected secretary of the student union at Notre Dame University.

PORT ALBERNI — Funeral services will be held in Stevens chapel at 1:30 p.m. Monday for William Edwin Jowsey, 80, who died Thursday. A native of Yorkshire, he came to the Alberni in 1938, working as a gardener until his retirement in 1950.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Mrs. Verna Erskine, 660 Dogwood, has been named custodian of the Vancouver Island regional library's Campbell River branch.

TOFINO — The local recreation commission is seeking a teacher-instructor for the commission and Tofino elementary school. The commission also is considering a request from local teen-agers for help in organizing a teen town.

French Creek

Horses Ride Sunday

PARKSVILLE — Riders from Parksville, Qualicum, the Alberni, Duncan, Chemainus and Victoria are expected for the Silver Spur Horse and Riding Club's horse show and gymkhana Sunday on Woodland Farm at French Creek. It is believed the show will be the first here run under rules of the Island horsemen's council.

OFFICIALS NAMED

Junior events will start at 9:30 a.m., senior competition at 1 p.m.

Officials include D. M. Bowron of Duncan, judge; Mrs. Audrey Ross, judge's clerk; Gillian Dunlop, entry secretary; J. L. Stevens, ringmaster; H. J. Parsley, announcer; Gerry Weicker and Dudley Wickert, whippers-in; Jim Neden, jumps, and Mrs. Neden, concessions.

Adult Class Total Way Up

DUNCAN — Attendance jumped almost 100 per cent this year in Cowichan district adult education classes, director Fred Cummings says.

He said 626 people enrolled in 43 classes led by 38 instructors during the term just ending. Most of the increase was in vocational education although the majority of students still is in the non-vocational section.

Mr. Cummings also disclosed: ● Further expansion is planned in vocational education despite the lack of specialized facilities.

● Fees for instructors need not be changed.

● There is not enough interest for academic courses, either by direct instruction or correspondence.

● More specialists should be sought from the pulp and paper industry for expanded courses.

By AP, UPI

A major U.S. buildup of troops and planes on the Florida coastline was reported Friday as the most ominous of several developments which could bring a new explosion in the simmering Cuban crisis.

It was May Day and the two main Communists involved in the Cuban problem waved the Red flag with threatening statements.

● Nikita Khrushchev warned in Moscow that continued U.S. threats to Cuba and violations of its air space by reconnaissance flights "can have disastrous consequences."

● Fidel Castro warned in Havana he will use Soviet rockets to shoot down U.S. planes over Cuba if negotiations fail to end such flights.

NO UNDERSTANDING

Khrushchev denied any understanding with the U.S. about the U-2 flights and said U.S. actions could "draw the world into the abyss of another world war and inflict serious harm" to its people.

He made clear Russia supports all live Cuban conditions

U.S. 'CARRIER' SUNK BY REDS IN SAIGON

SAIGON (AP) — Communist terrorists sank a U.S. aircraft transport in Saigon harbor today.

All 73 men of the civilian crew were reported safe.

First Sinking

It was the first time a major U.S. vessel had been sunk in the battle against Viet Cong guerrillas.

The Card had taken on a cargo of old helicopters for return to the United States and had been scheduled to sail later today.

The explosion occurred at 5 a.m. Saigon time and the ship began sinking almost immediately.

Settles in River

The ship settled onto the muddy bottom of the 48-foot-deep Saigon River with its flight deck and superstructure above water.

Civilian Capt. Borge Langeland, 55, of New Orleans, said there was a possibility the ship would capsize.

Tears in Eyes

Banks Guilty, Held in Cell

MONTREAL (CP)—Hal C. Banks, former president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.), was convicted Friday on a charge of conspiring to assault a rival union official seven years ago.

The burly, 56-year-old accused showed no emotion on hearing the verdict at the end of a 56-page judgment which took Judge Claude Wagner two hours and 20 minutes to read to a packed court. However, tears came to his eyes as he was being taken to cells.

BAIL CANCELLED

Banks' $2,000 bail was cancelled and he was ordered held in Bordeaux Jail until sentencing Tuesday, when a defence counsel Joseph Cohen said an appeal will be filed and application for bail will be made.

Banks was charged with conspiracy to assault Capt. Henry Walsh with intent to wound, maim or disfigure. The organizer for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild (CLC) was beaten up Aug. 18, 1957, in a darkened hotel parking lot in Owen Sound, Ont.

CO-CONSPIRATORS

Paul Carah and Jack Richardson of Montreal and Jack Casper of Sacramento, Calif., were named as co-conspirators in the charge, which carries a 14-year maximum sentence.

In his judgment, Judge Wagner said:

Rare Crabs End Trip Too Soon

PARIS (Reuters)—Six giant crabs of a rare species being flown from Alaska to aquariums in London, Manchester and Hamburg were eaten by error.

Paris airport authorities said Friday by "regrettable negligence" the chef preparing meals for the airport restaurant was not informed that the crabs had been deposited in the cold room only to await transit connections.

Sukarno Ready To Act

JAKARTA (UPI)—Indonesian President Sukarno said Friday he will deliver a "command of action" Sunday to 1,050,000 volunteers who have vowed to help him crush Malaysia.

In Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, Prime Minister Tun-ko Abdul Rahman cut short his vacation and announced that a new cabinet would be sworn in today, three days ahead of schedule. Rahman's alliance party, pledged to a program of opposition to Indonesia, won a landslide election Victory last Sunday.

The president gave no details of the order, but observers said it probably would call for stepped up action by Indonesian guerrillas in the jungles of Borneo where Indonesia and Malaysia share a common border.

Borrowed Name

'Doctor' Really Wasn't

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons disclosed Friday that a man who practised medicine for two years at Brant Memorial Hospital in Burlington, near Hamilton, was an impostor.

The identity of the man is unknown, but he practised with credentials in the name of Dr. Andre Couture. His papers showed him to be a graduate of Laval University medical school and he had a "limited licence" to practise from the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

His documents are believed to be forgeries.

The man left the hospital in January to enter private practice in the nearby village of Kildare, but left later with his wife and two young children.

The man came under suspicion when someone—not on the staff of the hospital—questioned his competence.

Botanical Beach to Become B.C. Park

Colonist Legislative Reporter

The brief but bitter battle of Botanical Beach is over and the world famous marine life paradise will become a provincial park with public access. Recreation Minister Kiernan announced yesterday. The beach battle erupted into front page headlines Wednesday when Colonist Outdoors Editor Alec Merriman disclosed that the area was being closed to the public by the private owner of surrounding land.

Thursday evening the private owner, logger Rudolph Witschi of Cefir Forest Products Ltd., sought out Mr.

Kiernan and offered the province a gift of 20 acres fronting the beach and the use of a private road for public access.

Earlier Mr. Kiernan had asked for a two-week cooling-off period in the beach hassle as a prelude to a meeting with Mr. Witschi to discuss proposals for park development and access. Nature lovers and sportsmen were up in arms at the threatened loss of access to the beach and marine scientists were upset over the effects of creating a booming ground adjacent to it.

Mr. Kiernan said yesterday the Cefir booming ground is designed with a breakwater separating it from Botanical Beach. This would overcome the danger that rotting bark from the logs would poison marine life at the beach.

Initially, said the minister, there will be controlled access along Mr. Witschi's $40,000 logging road and group

Battle Outcome Example to Others

Colonist Outdoors Editor Alec Merriman, who brought the Botanical Beach situation to the public's attention, said yesterday he was pleased with the outcome of events.

Informed of the peaceful settlement, Mr. Merriman—attending a B.C. Federation of Fish and Game conference at Nanaimo—said:

"I am delighted that Mr. Witschi has made a magnanimous offer which could well set an example to other private logging operators.

"He was quite within his rights as private owner of the property and it is certainly gratifying to see that a new Canadian has recognized the moral feature of the issue," said Mr. Merriman.

He said he hopes people will continue to enjoy Botanical Beach and that they will be "doubly sure to respect any logging equipment or property of the owners."
